Friday January 22 Berachah Items

It is our desire that the people of Arlington become better acquainted with Berachah and her work. We would be glad to have you visit us frequently, make any kind of inquiry as to the method of operation and the work being accomplished.

It is doubtless be interesting to you to know from whence came the buildings that are now on Berachah grounds. Those being used in the interest of the Child Institute have an interesting history. Hamill Hall, which is a brick veneer building, erected at a cost of $35,000, is being used for a dormitory, and in it is the main dining room. Mr. R. J. Hamill, of Oklahoma, gave the initial $10,000, and Mr. Edwin Gould, of New York, the second $5,000 that made possible the erection of this building.

The Laundry Building was the gift of Mr. Edwin Gould of New York. The cottage just recently erected was the gift of Mr. Spaulding of California. The Arlington Cottage was erected largely through gifts of the citizens of Arlington, and the Administration Building, wherein are the offices, the printing office, and the chapel, was erected by popular subscription. The cottage under course of construction now was the gift of Mr. E. D. Farmer of Ft. Worth.

The other buildings on the place are being used by the Southern Evangelistic Institute, which include the Lucy Moore Cottage, given by Miss Lucy Moore, of Pennsylvania, the School Building, given by Mr. E. D. Farmer, of Ft. Worth, and the Auditorium, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Whitehill, of Pennsylvania.

The year is opening up nicely and the management is hopeful that at least four new cottages will be erected this year for the use of the Child Institute.

Wise, Unwise and Otherwise

By S. Luther Perry

Frank Goodwin, who has been carrying the mail out of Arlington for 30 years, says present day folks do not appreciate the advantage that is now just taken for granted in every day life. When he first started as rural route carrier roads were so bad in wet weather he had to carry a stick to punch the mud from between his cart wheels, otherwise it would become too heavy for the horse to pull the vehicle. In rainy weather it was not uncommon for his horse and cart to get bogged so badly another horse had to be borrowed from a rancher or farmer so the mail could proceed. Frank says one of his mail patrons remarked just the other day that he now has two daily papers a day, a radio, a car and good all-weather roads, a telephone to use in case a doctor is needed who gets there in 30 or 40 minutes, a comfortable stove with no wood to cut, and many other conveniences impossible 30 years ago. In fact, the rural home owners are about as well or even better off now than the city or small town resident. If as much change is made within the next 30 years there will be a rush for the wide open spaces.

Somebody's Little Boy

Somebody's little boy was crossing the street,
Innocent, young and fair
He hadn't the judgment of older folks,
He didn't see the danger there.

Somebody's boy had a song on his lips,
But it died in an instant away
For a motorist ran the little boy down
And he died at the close of day.

Somebody kneels by an empty bed,
And fondles a little shoe,
Somebody looks through the empty years,
Suppose this somebody were you?

Will you watch for the little boys,
Drivers in the city and town?
Really, it's one of the greatest crimes
To run a little boy down.

Friday February 12 PETER EDWARD KERN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Peter Edward Kern, 78, was instantly killed Monday morning at 7:30 when he was struck by a Texas and Pacific train at the Masonic crossing. Mr. Kern was in the habit of taking a short walk each morning before breakfast and Monday on his return to the home, he either failed to see the approaching train or was so preoccupied he walked in front of it.

Mr. Kern was one of the most interesting men at the home, he was known far and near as "Klondike Pete" a name he was given during the gold rush to the Yukon. Mr. Kern during those booming days, lived at Skagway, Alaska, where he did a thriving jewelry business. He built a home on the mountain side, near the town and this gradually assumed the name of Kern Castle.

To this home came men, prominent on Wall Street and in the financial centers of the world, who were entertained in royal style. It is said the Prince of Wales was a visitor to this Castle. At the time of his death, Mr. Kern had in his room at the home, a chair in which many famous people have sat, among whom were Dwight L. Morrow and the Prince of Wales.

Mr. Kern, during his lifetime had been three times a millionaire. His last big venture, in which he is reputed to have lost his last fortune, was the opening and financing an addition to El Paso, which is known today as Kern Place.

Mr. Kern came to the home in 1932 from El Paso and for the last few years of his life, he spent his entire time in working on many plans to benefit humanity and doing kindly deeds for everyone with whom he came in contact.

He was a constant visitor to the Journal office, usually coming on Wednesday when he would be in town to attend the meeting of the Townsend Club. His visits will be missed, for he always came in with a cherry greeting and more often than not, with a small gift for some member of the office.

He was a kindly, sweet old gentleman, in many ways like a child, but every one loved him and expressions of shock and grief were heard all over town Monday when news of his tragic end was passed around.

Mr. Kern was born at New Ridgel, Ohio, and had lived practically all over the United States. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Katharine Kern Dugan, Bronxville, New York, with whom he kept in touch and who sent him many gifts of money and other things to "make his last days happier." Also one daughter, Mrs. Madeline Merz of New York.

Miss Cora Patterson Died In Dallas

Word was received in Arlington late Monday of the death of Miss Cora Patterson. It came as a shock to her friends for when she left for Dallas that morning she seemed as well as usual. In fact, it was learned that she taught school that day, and after school walked three blocks to a hair-dresser and then fell dead just as she entered the door. Her death came as a result of a heart ailment which had forced her to take a leave of absence from her work in the Dallas school system.

Miss Patterson purchased a little home in Arlington on Ditto Street a little more than a year ago. She had the home worked over making it among the most attractive houses in Broadmore addition. In the spring she moved here and very readily became a part of the community, finding her place in the Presbyterian Church of which she had been a member, in the various organizations of the Church in the Garden Club and other community activities.

She had been called back to her work last week as a teacher in Dallas. There she had completed one full week and returned to teach the second week when the end came suddenly.

Her body was taken to Mansfield to the home of her sister, Mrs. Guest. Miss Patterson was a member of a pioneer family in this community. Burial was from the Presbyterian Church with her pastor, Rev. John H. Patterson of Arlington, and the Mansfield pastor, Rev. W. P. Roberts in charge of the services. She was laid to rest in the Mansfield cemetery beside her parents.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1937

Friday March 5      FIGURES SHOW CITY ON SOUND FINANCIAL BASIS

The City of Arlington is gradually getting on a sound financial basis after the years of depression and non payment of taxes, high interest on the indebtedness and many other factors that tend to put a city as well as other businesses in the red. This has not been accomplished in a day nor has it been accomplished without work and steady adherence to the best interests of the city by those holding the reins of government. Tax payers rarely know just what is being done unless some one makes an investigation to ascertain facts and figures.

The Journal made this investigation this week and found so many worthwhile projects accomplished and so much money taken in and paid out for improvements that it thought the data gathered would be of interest to the people in general, so a resume will be given.

For the first time all outstanding warrants have been retired for the first time in several years. In 1935 there was approximately $7,000 outstanding. Signal lights on the streets have been installed at a cost of $1,100, all debts on water plant and equipment have been liquidated, water reservoir at pump plant covered with concrete top at a cost of $1,000, paid in full.

Water mains have been laid on North Center, North Oak, Hill Crest, also several sewer extensions have been made and paid for. Built new swimming pool, stone bath house, improved golf course and Rose Garden at a cost of several thousand dollars—all paid for. Bought new $6,000 fire truck—all paid for except $1,200. New Ford truck for street work, cost $1,000—paid for; new police car and truck for water department both paid for.

New sanitary law and health ordinance passed to meet national, state and county standards.

Perhaps the most outstanding of all the accomplishments of the city officials was refunding the outstanding bonds of the city at a reduced rate of interest saving the city $75,000 in interest alone. Arrangements were made so payments on the bonds have been spread out over a longer period of years, thus affording a better opportunity to be ready to make payments when they fall due.

From the foregoing figures and data it is readily seen that the men who have charge of the city affairs, have handled the business of the city in an efficient and worthy manner.

Friday March 26 ARLINGTON BOY KILLED IN SCHOOL EXPLOSION

High school students, friends and all Arlington were shocked and grief stricken when the news reached here that Jack Fentress was one of the victims of the New London School horror.

Jack was an Arlington boy, born on North Oak Street, June the 19, 1920, and lived here until the family moved to East Texas. The graduating class at the High School were all classmates of his and they, with one accord, say Jack was one of the best and brightest boys they ever knew.

He was a true pal to his friends and during his school days at New London made teachers and pupils his friends by his never failing honest, comradeship and strict adherence to duty. Jack would have graduated this year a few weeks before reaching his seventeenth birthday. He had just received his class ring a few weeks ago of which he was inordinately proud, because he worked and paid for it himself. He was very anxious to show it to his mother who was in Bowie, but when she saw it, Jack could not explain to her just what it meant to him and how he had made the money to buy it with, because the night before Jack's spirit had winged its way where there is only happiness, rest and peace.

Jack was a great lover of music, was leader of the school band and was to have played a cornet solo at a band concert given in Jacksonville the night he was killed.

He was also an Eagle Scout, the highest honor to be attained in scouting, and was Junior Assistant Scout Master of the troop at New London. He was a lover of clean out-door sport and last year went out for tennis making the same high mark of efficiency in that sport he made in the rest of his work. He was a Junior Life Saver, and active in all school and campus functions. Last year he took manual training, making his mother a beautiful cedar chest and lamp which are now her dearest possessions.

Jack attended a Band Master's Convention in Waco two weeks before his death and has attended the State contests for the past two years. He was a son, brother and

He was connected with many other business ventures in Arlington among them being the Universal Motor Company and the Bates Lumber Company.

During the years from boyhood to manhood Mr. Spruance made many loyal and true friends. They were bound to him through many acts of accommodations and aid in times of stress. He was never too busy to accommodate a friend and was always ready to talk over their financial problems and advise them.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1937

31, 1870 to Miss Rhoda Adeline Bradley. To this union eleven children were born, nine sons and two daughters. His wife, two sons, John A. and Tollie M. Hiatt and one daughter, Ruby preceded him in death by a few years.

After leaving Alabama he first settled in Wood County, moving from there to Harrison County and from there to Tarrant County in 1889. He bought a farm near Rehobeth where he was a successful farmer and ginner until he retired about 27 years ago. The family then moved to Arlington to the home where he died.

Mr. Hiatt was one of the few remaining pioneers of the Arlington Community and with his passing Arlington loses one of its most colorful characters, a man who lived a free and natural life unhampered by conventions. His life exemplified traits of character instilled into the lives of the frontier children by their parents and the conditions under which they lived.

Absolute and undeviating honesty, fair dealing and loyalty to his family and friends were the standards by which he shaped his life.

During the years his wife was an invalid, Uncle Minor remained constantly with her and when she passed away and he lost the companion of more than sixty years, life lost its zest and joy and Uncle Minor just marked time until he too should be called home.

Friday April 30 Miss Eliza Hayter Is Buried Monday

Miss Eliza Hayter fell down the steps of her rooming house on Woodlawn, in Dallas last Monday night, and died a few hours later from concussion of the brain.

Miss Hayter is well known in Arlington, and her family has figured large in the early history of Arlington. Her father, a pioneer Cumberland Presbyterian Preacher, the Rev. A. S. Hayter, came to the Watson community from Nacogdoches, Texas, in February, 1869 to look over this part of the country. He met the late P. A. Watson, and from that time on the two families remained fast friends. He bought 200 acres of land, all of which is now owned by the Waggoner interests. The old Hayter home stood on the east side of the road across from the two story brick dwelling belonging to the Three D Ranch, and it was here that Miss Hayter spent her childhood days.

She has left her influence in the educational and cultural life of Arlington that will last for generations. She taught in the public schools here for many years, and counted among her most treasured friends boys and girls of that time who have grown into middle aged men and women of our town of today. She also taught music here.

Her father was the first Worshipful Master of the Arlington Masonic Lodge, and she, herself, was a charter member of the local Chapter of the Eastern Star, where she has retained her membership throughout the years.

After leaving Arlington, Miss Hayter taught school for a number of years at various places, and then entered social service work.

She was employed by the City of Dallas for a long period in connection with United Charities, was later Supervisor of boys at the Reynolds Orphan's Home, and then again in the employ of the City of Dallas, from which job she resigned last fall to take charge of her own rooming house where the accident occurred. Those who knew Miss Hayter marveled at her sustained youthfulness, her mental alertness and her pliability. She had the happy faculty of moving with the changing times, and always found her place with youth as well as with oldsters.

For his first two years in High School she encouraged him to make the best grades in his class. Under her instruction the boys received a practical education. She taught them many things that will help them to live their lives after they leave the home.

Mr. Scott wrote: "Miss Hayter is affectionately remembered not only by those associated with her at various times in the past twenty-five years, but by those whose lives she touched intimately, tenderly and helpfully, Miss Hayter was always a devoted and useful public servant."

Friday May 28 Brief Summary Of The Life Of Doctor W. H. Davis

The following article on the life of Arlington's pioneer physician, Dr. William Harold Davis, is of great interest to his many friends and the Journal takes great pleasure in publishing it.

Dr. William Harold Davis was born Dec. 12, 1858, on his father's farm in Smythe County, Virginia, eleven miles east of Marion, the county seat. The youngest of twelve children (6 boys and 6 girls) the son of Harold Putnam Davis and Annie Elizabeth Snavely Davis. He attended neighborhood schools until the age of about twelve. Attended boarding school at Rural Retreat for two years. Attended A. & M. at Blacksburg, Va., two years—an Agricultural, Mechanical and Military school. He returned home, worked on farm, making a daily hand and read anatomy at night.

On January 6th, 1879 he entered the office in Rural Retreat of Dr. P. W. Adkins, his preceptor, and remained there until Oct. of the same year. He entered Physicians and Surgeons College in Baltimore, Md., from which he received his M. D. degree March 3rd, 1881. He attended the inauguration of the President of the U. S., Hayes. the next day in Washington on Pennsylvania Ave. in deep snow. Returned home to Virginia and remained about two weeks, he then started to Texas accompanied by his brother Benjamin Franklin Davis. (1881) On account of high water, they were rerouted requiring ten days to arrive in Dallas, Texas. He spent one night in Dallas and came by rail to Arlington next day and spent the night at the "Old West End Hotel." The next day he arrived in Handley, Texas and decided to locate, taking up table board with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Farnsworth. The next day Mr. Farnsworth was kind enough to take him to Ft. Worth where he registered his diploma. His brother continued West to Ranger where he joined another brother James Madison Davis and family who had preceded him to Texas in the fall of 1880.

The very next day he received his first PROFESSIONAL call. A few days later, by the assistance of Mr. Farnsworth he selected a small gray pony trimmed up as a mule from a herd of cow ponies being driven West, for which he paid $30.00. A day or two later he purchased a saddle in Ft. Worth paying $35.00 which almost covered the pony ENTIRELY. The country not being fenced most of the roads were new trails. A few years later finding horse-back riding too tiresome, he traded that horse for a second hand buggy, bought harness on time, and borrowed a horse to hitch to his buggy. When roads became permissable he used the buggy but traveled on horse-back most of the time. (1881).

In the fall of 1882 he married Miss Emma Z. King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter King, who were prosperous farmers of that community. A daughter was born, Annie E. Davis, who lived four months to the day. In the year (1884) May 18, a son, Olin Davis, was born. His wife died one month after her son's birth. After practising medicine in Handley 6 years he moved to Arlington. Here he joined Dr. H. C. Stevens in partnership. A very pleasant partnership which continued for four years until Dr. Stevens moved to Ft. Worth to practice medicine.

In the fall of 1899 he married Miss Mary Jane Hutchinson, daughter of Col. I. L. and Ruth Hutchinson. A son was born to this union April 22, 1892, Charles Harold Davis. The second wife died March 14, 1896. On April 21, 1897 married Leila Estelle Spruance, daughter of Col. Thomas and Elizabeth Bledsoe Spruance. To this union were born two daughters: Willie Virginia, April 2, 1899; Margueritte March 15, 1909.

Besides a long satisfactory and lucrative practice he was active at all times in the social and civic life of his community. Having served the city of Arlington as alderman for a number of years, also as mayor at which time he signed the first bond issued by the city of Arlington for the purpose of installing the first sewer system. He was a charter member of the Chamber of Commerce and served as its president. Also member of Ft. Worth and Tarrant County Medical Association, being honored at one time as its vice president. Reared in the Luthern (Lutheran) Church, he became affiliated with the Presbyterian church and served as an elder for a number of years.

He was a charter member of the Knights of Pythias Lodge. A life long Democrat, he served as a member of Tarrant County's executive committee.

Having spent his early life on the farm, he always had a big interest in the agricultural and live stock development of his community. Accumulating a farm as soon as he was able he spent much of his time later in looking after it and his dairy cattle. During his long practice he traveled as the conditions permitted, first on horse back when there were few roads and fewer bridges, having many times forcing his horse to swim swollen streams and follow cow trails home when it was too dark to see. He acquired a buggy when roads got better and was the proud owner of the third automobile sold in Tarrant County, altho in spite of the trials and tribulations of these early day automobiles he has never been without one or more.

On the morning of Feb. 10, 1933, the ground being covered with ice, he fell and fractured his pelvic bone. During convalescence from which glaucoma developed in his right

Friday July 9 Irving Melcher Dies In Milwaukee

This community was saddened Thursday morning to learn of the death of Irving Melcher, former owner of the Aggie and Texas theatres. Melcher was in Milwaukee, Wis., where he had gone on a visit and where he was stricken with acute appendicitis. He was carried to a hospital and operated upon, later being given several blood transfusions when his condition became critical.

Melcher had been actively identified with the community life of Arlington for about seven years. Until about three months ago he was owner and operator of the Texan and the Aggie before these theatres were purchased by Interstate Amusement Co. It was under Melcher's direction that these two shows in their meteoric growth attracted the attention of the large show circuit. However, Melcher retained other interests in Arlington and seemed loath to sever his complete connection with the business life of Arlington and with the many friends he made here. Arlington will feel keenly the loss of Irving Melcher, for his business optimism, his genial greeting, and his philanthropy form a combination not easily duplicated.

As with much of the philanthropy that is accomplished, Melcher was little known, but for those who knew of his desire to help young men, he stood out as a man whose business ethics were not motivated solely on the principle of personal gain. All of his employees and they were many at times more than were actually needed, spoke well of him, and took an unusual personal interest in his affairs and business ventures. Many times a young man would appear in complete new suit of clothes and other accessories and it would later develop that Melcher had taken him to Dallas for complete outfitting.

This community will miss the genial personality of Irving Melcher, more particularly at this time when its optimism is being tried, and the greatest tribute that may be paid him will come from those who knew him best and who found in him a kindly person whose philosophy was that it was not all of life to take, but to give.

Friday July 23

The government has banned all forms of ocean stunt flying for Americans. There will be no exceptions yet Jimmie Mattern is going ahead with preparations for his flight to Moscow, Russia, via the North Pole. Also a round-the-world flight by Dick Merrill and Mark Hellinger, a newspaper columnist, is expected to be stopped. It's about time. One can sympathize with Amelia Earhart and Frederick Noonan, down "somewhere" in the vast Pacific but one cannot approve their stupidity or desire to make page one. Fools and publicity hounds will now confine themselves to marathon dancing, wearing shorts, flagpole setting, nudism, hog calling, eating hard boiled eggs and other daring exploits.

Friday July 30 Services For Mrs. B. F. Miles Held At Christian Church

Funeral services for Mrs. B. F. Miles, 57, who died Friday night, were conducted at 4:30 p. m. Saturday afternoon at the First Christian Church with the Rev. N. L. Keith officiating. Burial was in Parkdale Cemetery.

Mrs. Miles was fatally burned Friday when she ran into her flaming residence in an attempt to obtain $260 which was kept in jars in a dresser drawer. Mrs. Miles was next door, visiting Mrs. Nanny Busby when a kerosene stove on which dinner was cooking exploded.

Mrs. Busby held Mrs. Miles and tried to keep her from entering the burning house, but she broke away. She did not reach the money but she emerged a few minutes later with her clothing aflame and was taken in an ambulance to the hospital.

The roof of the house was gone when the fire truck was summoned, but after the flames were extinguished fireman found the money in a badly burned dresser. The money was in jars in a pile of clothes and as the clothes had gotten wet the money was not burned.

Mrs. Miles was born and reared in Downsville, La. In 1900 she married B. F. Miles and they moved to Ennis. The Miles moved here from Stamford a little over a year and a half ago.

Mrs. Miles was an active church member and never has there been a sweeter Christian character. No matter how difficult times became she never forgot to be kind and to do good things. Even people who knew her slightly were deeply impressed by her friendliness and her loving character. Mrs. Miles' life was an example of usefulness and even though she had lived in Arlington only a year and a half she had a host of friends and had made her presence felt in the community. Mrs. Miles with her good and true character is a great loss to the community and the sympathy of the people of Arlington is extended to the family.

Friday August 6 CARTER BUILDS AIR COOLING SYSTEM IN HIS STORE

A bale of excelsior, a few boards, dripping water, a handfull of nails, some chicken wire and an old fan—put them together—the result is an air cooled system which reduced the average temperature 12 degrees at Carter Hardware and Electric Company.

The cooling system is similar to the washed air process, a wood frame 8 by 6 feet and four inches deep was constructed and covered with chicken wire, and filled with a bale of excelsior. This was put on the outside at the back of the store. A round hold about two feet in diameter was cut in the wall in front of this and a fan was put in the opening.

Water which slowly drips through the excelsior evaporates and is nearly as cold as ice water when it comes out of the bottom of the excelsior. The fan in front of the excelsior blows the cold air into the store and makes it a pleasantly cool place.

At the present Paul Carter is fixing a pump which will run the same water through the excelsior (again).

The bale of excelsior cost $1.60. It will have to be changed every two months. When the water is fixed so that the same water runs through the excelsior the operation cost will be about $3.00 a month which includes buying new excelsior, the current and water.

The temperature in front on the fan is 76 degrees and has been as low as 74 while the temperature in the store is about 80 degrees. The hotter the temperature the faster the water evaporates and the cooler the air is.

Mr. Carter found out about such cooling systems while making a trip to California. His curiosity was aroused when he noticed that many small places in Arizona advertised cooled air. While in Gila Bien he investigated in a cooled drug store and took the dimensions and built his system the same size as the drugstore.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1937

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Addie Green, three sons, Clyde, Fred and J. B.; two daughters, Charley Mae and Edna Green all of Arlington; one sister, Mrs. J. D. Hill, of Arlington; two brothers, Henry Green, of Childress, and Walter Green, of Dallas.

Mr. Green was born in Johnson county and lived there until his marriage to Miss Addie Ball of Mansfield in 1912. After his marriage he moved to the home near here where he died. Mr. Green was a member of one of Tarrant county's pioneer and wealthiest families.

In speaking of Mr. Green, Rev. Bennett said Sunday afternoon that "he lived happily, normally and purposely." It is absolutely true that he was a happy, forceful man with the courage of his convictions. Once his mind was made up he seldom changed. His word could be depended on as he did not speak idly but to the point. His greatest delight was helping someone, who needed his help, either financially or with his influence. He was a member of the Baptist Church and always loyally supported the church program. He was a loving and considerate husband and father, a good neighbor and a citizen of inestimable value to his community.

When news came Friday of his sudden passing the entire town was shocked. He was in Arlington, apparently in his usual good health, when he became sick. He then went to the home of a sister where he rested for a short time and then started home. He died a few moments after reaching home. Death was due to a heart attack.

In the passing of Charley Green Arlington loses one of its most valuable citizens, his family the mainstay of the home and his friends a true and loyal friend.

The church was filled to overflowing with friends, many of them driving from a distance. The flowers were many and beautiful. The closing words of the minister expressed people's opinion of Charley Green when he said: "He was a man in every sense of the word."

The Journal and a host of friends extend sympathy to Mrs. Green and family.

He was connected for a number of years with the Balfour Company of Attleboro, Mass. At the time of his death he was personally looking after his farm and ranch near Arlington.

Mr. Brown was a member of the Baptist Church and in his remarks Rev. Melugin said, "He was a great Christian man, quiet, courageous, he did not make a show of his religion but every one knew by his action he had deep spiritual convictions. He was a citizen any town would be glad to have, a neighbor who was always friendly and ready to serve his friends in any way, a man with a great heart who forgot self in his love for others."

Mr. Brown had the highest ambitions and ideals for his children and every thought and energy was devoted to their fulfillment and he left with his family a memory of love and confidence that will remain with them forever. Mr. Brown was a good citizen, a devoted and loving husband and father and a true and loyal friend and in his passing Arlington loses a man whose influence will long be remembered.

Friday August 20 Mrs. Mattie Ditto Instantly Killed By T. & P. Train

Mrs. Mattie A. Ditto, 79, was instantly killed Friday evening about 5:30 when struck by a Texas and Pacific passenger train at the Center Street crossing.

Mrs. Ditto was on the way home from spending the day with friends on the North Side and apparently did not see the approaching train until it was almost upon her. A Moore ambulance carried her to the hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Mrs. Ditto left home early in the morning to attend to some business in town, going to the business part of town to the home of Mrs. Henry McKee, a life time friend, where she spent the day. On the way home she stopped in for a short visit with Mrs. J. H. Purvis and spoke of being later than she intended and that she must hurry home for supper.

Her son, Harry Ditto who works in Ft. Worth got off a bus on the highway just about the time the accident occurred and got to the scene in time to accompany his mother's body to the hospital.

Mrs. Ditto had lived in Arlington for the past 56 years and the news of her tragic death shocked the entire town. Funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon.

Friday August 20 Funeral Services For Mrs. Mattie Ditto Arlington Pioneer

Funeral services were conducted Sunday evening for Mrs. Mattie A. Ditto, 79, at the residence with Rev. Wm. H. Cole, pastor of the Methodist Church officiating. Pall bearers were Gordon Nichols, J. R. Wright, Donald Owens, Charles Bucher, Horace Cooper and J. H. Purvis.

Burial was in the Arlington Cemetery with the Hugh Moore Funeral Home in charge.

Survivors are three sons, John, Ernest and Harry Ditto all of Arlington and one brother, Luke Robinson, Lovington, New Mexico.

Mrs. Ditto was born in Cook County near Gainesville December 23, 1861. The family moved to Grand Prairie when Mrs. Ditto was a child and resided there until they moved to Arlington 56 years ago, where she lived until the time of her death. She married John W. Ditto of Arlington, a member of one of the first families to settle in Arlington. Mr. Ditto was one of the first business men of the town and was active in all progressive moves for the community until his death Sept. 22, 1921.

Mrs. Ditto was a charter member of the Methodist Church and a short time before her death wrote a history of the local church. According to this history, the church which Mrs. Ditto helped organize in 1877 had its start in the Watson Community and services were held there in the Presbyterian Church and later the same members moved the church to Arlington.

Mrs. Ditto helped raise the funds for the first organ for the church and was the first organist. She continued active in church work until a few years ago.

Mrs. Ditto was the mother of five children, three boys and two girls, the girls having passed on before their mother.

Mrs. Ditto made her home with her son, Harry and his wife and her greatest pleasure in her later years was visiting her old friends, and on the day she met her tragic death had spent the day with Mrs. John McKee and had also visited with Mrs. J. H. Purvis. She made friends easily and had the happy faculty of holding friendships after they were made.

Even strangers after meeting her and conversing with her, felt themselves drawn to her by her straightforward earnest manner, they knew there was no pretense or flattery in her life, but that what she was the first time they met her she would be the next.

In the passing of Mrs. Ditto Arlington loses one of its best loved pioneer women, a woman who had known vicissitudes and hardships of life, but through it all remained sweet and true to the ideals of a true Christian. She lived her religion and helped others to do the same by her example and unfaltering adherence to duty and loyalty.

Her memory will linger long with those who knew her best and the church she loved and helped to build will forever be a monument, sacred to the influence and sacrifice of a true Christian mother and friend.

In Memoriam

In the passing of Mr. C. B. Berry, Arlington has lost a good citizen, the church a faithful official, and his family a devoted husband and father. It is always difficult to estimate the value of such a character. In fact, few of us ever think of it until we have suffered the loss.

Mr. Berry's life among us has been one of unselfish service to his fellows and to his community. If we would be a good citizen, we must justify our existence in unselfish service. This was Uncle Charlie's contribution.

He was honest, industrious, true, faithful, a Christian gentleman, and a fine friend. These are the qualities of a great citizen such as he was. Then it is no wonder that he had held in Arlington so many positions of trust. He always proved himself equal to the task.

In his church relationship, he had no superiors. He exemplified all the fine qualities of a great Christian character. During the last thirty-two years he has served as secretary-treasurer of the Arlington Methodist church and of its official Board. Few meetings of this

Board did he miss. And he made the statement just a few days ago that he had never missed a meeting of the Quarterly conference. His records were in fine shape and the interests of the church were always protected.

Our love goes with him and our sympathy to his family.
O. L. Killian.

Mrs. Margarite Thornton Weeks Passes Away Tuesday Morning

Mrs. Margarite Thornton Weeks, widow of the late W. C. Weeks, passed away Tuesday morning, Sept. 7, at the home of her sisters, Misses Grace and Myrtle Thornton, with whom she had resided since ill health forbade her maintaining her own home.

Mrs. Weeks was born in Fayetteville, Tennessee, as a small child moved with her parents and a large family of brothers and sisters to the Arlington Community, first to a farm south of town in the old Johnson Station Community, where many of the pioneer families of this section first lived, and to the city of Arlington about thirty years ago. Here they all grew to maturity, identifying themselves with the social and civic life of the little city as it developed.

She received her education in the local schools, Switzer College of Itasca, and Colorado University, Boulder, Colorado, and was for several years a successful teacher. She was principal of one of the schools at Cleburne at the time of her marriage to Mr. W. C. Weeks, a prominent building contractor and vice president of the Citizen's Bank of Arlington.

She was a woman of unusual intelligence and wit, and was keenly interested in every movement for the betterment of her home town and its citizens. She was for many years an active member of the Shakespeare (unreadable.....) Treasurer when her health failed.

As a child she united with the Presbyterian Church of Johnson Station, later moving her membership to Arlington Presbyterian church, of which she has been a loyal and devoted supporter, being always interested in every activity of her church. For several years she taught a class of boys in the Junior Department. Of these the following boys, now nearing manhood were honorary pallbearers:

Friday September 24 Man Killed In Auto Wreck On Highway

Ross Frank Mooneyhan, 44, of 1723 Sixth Avenue, was killed at 12:30 p.m. Sunday when his automobile careened off of the Dallas-Fort Worth Pike into a twenty foot ditch near the Rose Hill Cemetery, west of Arlington.

Investigators said a wheel of the car apparently locked when the man applied his brakes to avoid striking a wagon crossing the highway.

Mooneyhan, driving alone, was identified by Social Security card. R. L. Keith, his employer, later verified the identification at the Moore Funeral Home in Handley.

Jack Crowder, dairy employee, told Deputy Sheriff Renfro that he was driving a tractor that was pulling the wagon loaded with feed. Crowder said Mooneyman skidded his tires 50 or 75 feet from the roadside from where the wagon was crossing. Tires marked the pavement also indicated that the brakes of the cars locked.

The automobile, Crowder said, rolled 150 feet before it struck and snapped off a protective post at the side of the highway. The impact sent the car into the ditch.

Crowder ran to the car, and found the man's head crushed. Justice of Peace Will Power of Arlington returned a verdict of accidental death.

Crowder said his tractor was across the highway but the wagon was still on the pavement when Mooneyhan put on his brakes. Crowder works on a farm near the scene.

Moore Funeral Home of Handley was in charge of the arrangements.

Friday October 1 King Alfred On Local Police Force

Last week during National Dog week several interesting dog stories were published in the papers over the country, but none any more so than the one reported to the Journal Office this week of the little dog who does his part in guarding the town during the night.

This dog "King Alfred the Great" is a self appointed member of the Arlington Police force and no one on the force takes his work more seriously or attends to duty more conscientiously than this little white dog.

Several months ago he appeared at the city hall and took up his duties. He makes the rounds every nite with the officer on duty and if he is busy and fails to start on schedule King Alfred starts out and makes the round by himself, and he knows the route just as well as any man on the force. When the right men go off duty in the morning and the dog disappears and no one knows where he goes, but he is always back on the job in the evening. He is punctual too, never varying in his time of arrival.

Before joining the police force he belonged to Charley Rose and before coming to his home he was just another stray dog. The neighbors were afraid of him and after he started going to the police station Mr. Rose gave him to the boys and since that time he has had a very happy home.

Friday October 1 Arlington Society In 1899 Taken From Old Journal

In looking through the old files of the Arlington Journal, a paper published Sept. 29, 1889 was found and most of the local news checked for reproduction in this special Fair edition of the Journal.

This paper was published by Byus and Byus, editors. The paper is 15 inches long by 10 ½ inches wide with four columns. Most of the reading matter is plate copy with a few local items added.

The Journal today is in marked contrast to this early edition of 41 years ago. (Note: the year 1899 is mentioned, the year 1889 is mentioned, and the year 1896 is implied.) The paper has grown with the town and is today one of the best country newspapers in Texas, carrying all the local news, church news, club news and advertising matter from the progressive merchants of the town.

The following local items will be of interest to the older residents of Arlington.

We understand Charley Brower was at the Night Club, Bagdad last night acting the Hoodoo, as usual. Among his mischief he got mixed up with a good old motherly woman who attempted to spank him that he might behave. Brower sought refuge among his friends, including his best girl and the old woman was persuaded to give him a chance to beg her forgiveness, which Brower did upon his knees, and as humble too as man can.

Posey Putman is with McKnight and Rankin during the illness of R. W. McKnight.

Mrs. John Griffin of Itasca is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thornton.

Among those who took in the great Dallas Fair yesterday we noticed the following: John Hurley, Misses Minnie and Nannie Rose, Dr. Tom Finlye de Coyle, Misses Susie Mitchell, Mattie and Sallie Trigg, Dr. Brittain, R. L. King, Mesdames Norton, Eakins, Ben Spruance, Dugan and Don Collins, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pitts and Leta.

Dr. John Matlock left Saturday to attend Medical College.

A. B. Crawley and bride came to visit his brother, J. O. Thursday last and remained in our city until Monday, when he returned to his home in Marshall. They were married last Wednesday week at Marshall--A. B. Crawley and Miss Anna Smith. Mr. Crawley has many friends here who join the journal in extending congratulations.

John Withrington made a business trip to Ft. Worth Monday.

A pleasant crowd enjoyed an outing at Calloway Lake Sunday chaperoned by Mrs. A. J. Rogers.

Mrs. Mike Ditto is spending this week visiting relatives and friends in Cedar Hill.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Cooper attended the reception at the Bryan Home, near Grand Prairie last Friday night.

The Misses Bryan of Grand Prairie rendered a reception to their guest Miss Wolford last Friday night and the following young people from Arlington attended. Misses Maggie Middleton, Lula Mathers, and Birda Weeks and Messrs. Will Mathers of Mansfield, Jack Ditto, Charley Brower, Leslie Coulter, W. Schonaker, and George H. Benton.

Dr. W. H. Davis has moved his office into Sanders and Middleton's Drug Store and will occupy an office with Dr. B. F. Brittain.

Dr. Ed Rudd who has just returned from Illinois Dental College, will be ready and open for business Monday over Ditto and McKnight's grocery store.

Mrs. Olivia Roddy visited the Masonic Home in Ft. Worth Sunday.

Will Robinson was in Fort Worth Monday on business.

T. R. Hammack was in Dallas Tuesday on business.

Among the ads in this early edition was one from J. M. Grogan, watch maker and repairer. (It's a long jump Jim from watches to mules but you made it). One from Dr. J. A. Duckett announcing he had given his medical practice to Dr. W. L. McNeill; McKinley and McNatt Hardware, Saddles and Harness; W. L. Sweet, barber; Rogers and McKnight the Busy Big Store, Dick Beaman, Cold Drinks, Sibley and Crabtree, Groceries and A. J. Mahaney, photographer.

Among the improvements listed are the following two items. Work was this week begun on the home of Cashier W. M. Dugan. The plans to be carried out in the erection of this beautiful cottage are of the most modern design and the specifications contain all the conveniences. One of the noticeable being a porch to extend almost around the entire building making over 60 feet of gallery. He is building on his lot in the rear of the home of Dr. Sanders. (This is the home now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Douglas on North Mesquite).

The old gallery which has so long been a menace and eyesore to pedestrians going down South Main street, has been torn away from the side of Barnes & Lanier's grocery store and will be replaced by a side walk, which will make it more attractive. (Possibly some of the older residents will remember when Main Street ran North and South, we do not.)

Friday October 8 MR. AND MRS. E. H. WAY HAPPY AFTER 51 YEARS

Married fifty-one years and still happy and just as much sweethearts today as they were when they married, is the record of the happy married life of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Way, who celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary Sunday October 3.

They were married in Waxahachie in 1886 following a three years courtship, after they met one night at a cottage prayer meeting. Mrs. Way said as she saw Mr. Way come in she told one of her friends that she liked that white headed boy and when he returned home, he told his people he had found his wife. This proved true and today his head is really white and she is still just as much in love with him as she was the white headed boy.

Mrs. Way, before her marriage, was Miss Hannah Lula May. She was born in Clarksville, Ark., and reared in Colorado. She married W. H. Blair, a Colorado Stockman at the age of 16. Five years later he died leaving her with an infant daughter.

She moved to Waxahachie in ??, where she kept house for her father, who was a widower. She said when she left Colorado she was glad to leave the cold climate and head for Texas, where she had been told the weather was moderate even in the dead of winter. Imagine her surprise when she reached Waxahachie to find a typical "Blue Norther" blowing a gale.

Mr. and Mrs. Way were married by Rev. J. P. Walkup, at that time one of the most prominent Methodist ministers in this part of the state. After their marriage they lived with Mr. Way's father until after crops were gathered when they moved to themselves.

In speaking of housekeeping during the first few years of her marriage Mrs. Way said they had no conveniences, for she said refrigerators were not even in existence and they cooled their milk in springs or by keeping wet cloths around it.

Housewives today she says, with their electric refrigerators and other conveniences should never even find enough to do to keep busy.

Mr. Way was born in Mitchell, Indiana and moved to Texas in 1882 and located on a farm near Waxahachie. A few years after their marriage Mr. Way entered the Railway service with the Southern Pacific and moved to Dallas where they lived until he was promoted to a run on the main line and they moved to Ennis.

He started as a fireman and worked up to engineer. He was retired on a pension in 1925, after twenty-five years and five months of service.

He had a perfect record, was never fired or was never responsible for any one else being fired. In speaking of his railroad days he said, "When boys working for me would half do their work, I would tell them if they didn't stay on the job to go to the Master Mechanic and resign and tell him that he didn't want to work with Way he was too hard boiled." This he said was enough, he would never have any more trouble with them.

When asked what he thought was the future of railroads, Mr. Way said, "They are coming back and in a few more years they will be doing the major part of the business in the country." In 1927 the Ways moved to Arlington and bought a home from the late Mr. Cawthon, where they have since resided.

The first year Mr. Way worked for the railroad he made $35.00 per month and the first month he made a hundred dollars, Mrs. Way said he came in and threw his cap on the bed and yelled like a Commanche Indian.

This couple have had their hardships and their ups and downs, but through them all they have remained in love, and today they are still sweethearts and just as considerate and thoughtful of each other as they were the first year of their married life.

To visit them in their home gives one an insight into what the true relation between man and wife really means and you glimpse a little bit of heaven here on earth. They are real people, hospitable, kind and generous, and through the years to come they will go hand in hand with always time to be good neighbors and friends.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1937

He had not been well for several months, but put off having an examination until Sunday a week ago, when he went to the hospital where an operation was found to be necessary. The end came after several days of intensive suffering.

Mr. Patterson was born in Lincoln County, Tennessee, March 4, 1884 and moved to Texas in 87, the family locating in Fannin County and moving to Arlington in 1899, where he made his home until his death. Mr. Patterson was a loyal church member, joining the Presbyterian Church in 1904, and continued to take an active part in all the activities of the church until his death. In the passing of Mr. Patterson, Arlington lost one of its best loved and highly respected citizens. He was a good neighbor, a loyal friend and devoted husband and father.

BLOODY ALTAR

It was an interesting idea to deposit the body of an unrecognized soldier in the national memorial of the Great War, and yet, when one stops to think of it, how strange it is! ...He is not utterly unknown as we sometimes think. Of one thing we can be certain; he was sound of mind and body. We made sure of that. All primitive gods who demanded bloody sacrifices on their altars insisted that the animals should be of the best, without mar or hurt. Turn to the Old Testament, and you will find it written there: "Whether male or female, he shall offer it without blemish before Jehovah." The god of war still maintains the old demand. These men to be sacrificed upon his altars were sound and strong. Once there might have been guessing about that. Not now. Now we have medical science, which tests the prospective soldier's body. Now we have psychiatry, which tests his mind. We used them both to make sure that these sacrifices for the god of war were without blemish. Of all insane and suicidal procedures, can you imagine anything madder than this, that all the nations should pick out their best, use their scientific skill to make certain that they are the best, and then in one mighty holocaust offer ten million of them on the battlefields of one war? ....

Mad civilization! You cannot sacrifice on bloody altars the best of your breed and expect anything to compensate for that! ....

I renounce war because of what it does to our own men. I have watched them coming gassed from the front line trenches. I have seen the long, long hospital trains filled with their mutilated bodies, I have heard the cries of the crazed and the prayers of those who wanted to die and could not, and I remember the maimed and ruined men for the war is not yet over. I renounce war because of what it compels us to do to our enemies, bombing their mothers in villages, starving their children by blockades, laughing over our coffee cups about every damnable thing we have been able to do to them. I renounce war for its consequences, for the lies it lives on and propagates, for the undying hatreds it arouses; for the dictatorships it puts in the place of democracy, for the starvation that stalks after it....We can have this monstrous thing or we can have Christ, but we cannot have both. O my country, stay out of war!

Friday December 3 AGAINST BIBLE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

There is at least one church group which believes the Bible should not be taught in the public schools.

A resolution to this effect has been adopted by the San Antonio Baptist Pastors Conference.

Teaching the Bible, according to these ministers, is the function of the church; and to teach it in the school violates the American tradition for separation of church and state.

Moreover, proper safeguards cannot be exercised in the selection of the teachers for this work when the Bible is made into a public school textbook, the ministers resolved.

“No teacher can teach the Bible in a public school class without in some measure giving it his interpretation can possibly harmonize with the theories and beliefs of all the patrons of the public schools. Not until we accept the Russian dictum that the child belongs to the state can the state presume to interpret the Bible for that child.”

Friday December 17 Modern Convenience Fused With Old In Log Cabin House

Mrs. Lyman Davenport of Lakeview, Texas is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Watson and having electric lights put in their home for their Christmas present.

The tying up of the modern convenience of 1937 with the primitive construction of 1855 when a log house was built on the property, brought up the tale of adventure connected with the purchase of this property by J. A. Watson.

'Twas back in the Civil War days that Jim Watson and a few others had been detailed to bury a comrade. Mr. Watson's mount that he had ridden from his home on entering the war had died, and a planter in a section where they had been camped for several months gave him a mule so that he could remain in the calvary.

He mounted his mule and rode to a neighbors and borrowed a shovel with which to dig the grave. He was returning to the site selected for the burial when suddenly Yankees sprang up from everywhere. The skirmish took place in a wooded section and he saw a beautiful horse with saddle and bridle with the reins dragging on the ground coming toward him. The horses feet kept catching in the reins making it easy for Watson to catch the horse. He dropped the shovel and quickly changed mounts and was back with his men in a short time.

He later sold his horse to his captain for $300 and another horse. He sent the money back to his father, the late P. A. Watson, who bought the farm with the log house on it and the well that has never failed throughout the years.

To this house J. A. Watson took his bride in about 1868 and here J. B. Watson was born. The old house has been the scene of happy wedding fiests, among them being that of J. B. and his bride.

Many happy neighborhood parties have taken place here and today it stands as one of

Friday December 31 Mortician Arrives Too Soon; Patient Refuses Interment

Monday was a sad day for J. M. Houston when he went out to the barn and found his six gallon milch cow dead. With heavy heart he phoned a Fort Worth animal mortician to come on over as he had some potential glue for them.

Later the cow hearse arrived and Houston was picked up down town to show them where lay the corpse. Arriving at the shed where the deceased was supposedly sleeping her last sleep, the truck bogged down. After much difficulty the truck was gotten out of the mud, and lowering the wench they went in to pick up the corpse.

Imagine Houston's embarrassment when the undertaker declared that the animal was still alive and that they didn't take live cows. Dr. J. M. Gregory was called and after a shot the dead cow stood up.

The Fort Worthians are minus some glue, but Houston is still getting six gallons of milk daily.
