The death angel appeared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Strange last Wednesday, and took away the spirit of Mrs. Sarah Womack, who was anxiously awaiting the time of her going. She was nearing the age of 86 and had been a great sufferer for many months. She had a tumor and it had grown to such immensity the last few months, her going was being looked forward to with relief. She realized she could not live so was prepared and wanted to go. "No truer, nor better Christian ever lived" is the remark of Mr. and Mrs. Strange. Mrs. Womack and Mrs. Strange were not related, but the former reared Mrs. Strange from an eight month old baby. Mrs. Womack was loved and cared for by this couple as if she was their own mother. The body was carried to Morgan, Bosque County, where it was laid to rest by the side of her husband. Her nephew, Claud Ligon, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. MRS. G. F. WILLIAMS PASSES AWAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Thursday morning in the early hours, about 4 o'clock, Mrs. Kate Watson Williams went out on the Great Adventure.

Since February 11, 1928, at which time she was (in) an automobile wreck which injured her lung, she has battled against heavy odds. To human sense, she lost. But in her seeming failure to find health and re-newed physical life, she was drawn closer to the Way of the lowly Nazarene, who came that we "might have life and have it more abundantly". Her patience, her fortitude and her courage were beautiful, and always she clung to the hope that she might recover and look after her husband and two sons. But her passing came as peaceful as slumber, and in discussing the going, she had no fear.

Her husband, who thru the days and months has been at her bedside, always on the alert for some half-expressed wish, that he might do something more for her, has been an inspiration to those who have been in the home. Over and over she spoke of the wonder of his loving service.

Mrs. Williams was born December 15, 1901, and has spent her life in and near Arlington, graduating from Arlington High School in 1919.

WATSON NEWS

By Mrs. B. E. English

We regret very much to report the death of Mrs. G. F. Williams who passed away on last Thursday morning at 4:20 o'clock. Mrs. Williams will be remembered as Miss Kate Watson by maiden name. She was born Dec. 15, 1901. She spent most of her life in the Watson community. Mrs. Williams has been a sufferer for a long time. However she kept the faith, until about a week before her death. She said she wanted to get well, and must. But as her strength failed her she began to give up all hopes and said she was going. She said she saw a new light. She wanted to stay here on earth to be with her loved ones especially her husband, two little boys, Thomas and Jimmy whom she loved dearly. But God knoweth best. So he called her on to a place of rest. To a place where there will be no more suffering nor pains. No more heart aches, and no more sad good byes. Our greatest sympathy goes out to the entire family, especially the two small boys. But we pray that God will watch over them and send a guardian angel to guide them through life. Mrs. Williams left as survivors, her husband G. F. Williams, two sons, Thomas and Jimmy Cobb, two sisters, Mrs. Alva Robertson of Tarrant and Mrs. Mattie James of Ft. Worth, one brother, J. B. Watson of Waco, and her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. B. Watson. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the West Fork Church at 2 o'clock. Her pastor, W. A. Binyon had charge assisted by Rev. L. C. Collier, of Forest Hill, Rev. S. M. Bennett of Arlington, Rev. Greer a friend of Mr. Williams of Dallas. Her body was laid to rest in West Fork cemetery.

JOHN T. WHITE

By Mrs. John C. Pruitt

.....Mrs. Violetta Huckabee received a letter last week from her neighbor and friend, Mrs. T. C. Andrews who is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Griffith, of Brownwood, stating that her (Mrs. Andrew's) grandson, Jessie Burton, buried his wife the previous Wednesday. Mr. Burton has many friends in and near this community, who sympathize with him very deeply upon losing his helpmate and companion. The late Mrs. Burton will be remembered as the Miss Muriel Weatherford who was the primary teacher at the old Eidervill school several years ago, when the romance with Mr. Burton was begun. They had been married about five years, and soon after marrying they moved to Brownwood where they were still living the time of her death.

Mrs. Burton spent the summer of 1928 in Colorado trying to recuperate her health, but the improvement was slight so she spent nine months at the sanitarium at San Angelo, where she improved wonderfully and had hopes of entirely recovering until she developed double pneumonia about twenty days before her death. She was laid to rest in the Brownwood cemetery. Besides her husband, she is survived by her mother and one brother, and three sisters.

SAM LOUDER, NEGRO, GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

Sam Louder, negro, must die in the electric chair for the slaying of Evans Johnson, 22, policeman, on Nov. 23, last. A verdict carrying the death penalty was returned to Judge Hosey in Criminal District Court by a jury at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday night. The case went to the jury five hours earlier.

.....Louder shot and killed Johnson at 5:30 a. m., Nov. 23, when the officer went to the negro's home to question him about a disturbance of the peace. With his jugular vein severed by a bullet from a German-make pistol, Johnson turned from the side door of Louder's home and fled to the street, where he fell wounded fatally.

.....This is the third death penalty meted out by a jury in Tarrant County in the past 12 years. District Attorney Martin has prosecuted each of the defendants.

Martin and Will R. Parker, who prosecuted Louder, also represented the State against Ernest Vickers, who received the death penalty about 10 years ago for the slaying of J. B. Loper, special railway officer, who was killed on a railway reservation here. His sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment and Vickers now is in the State penitentiary.

.....The only other death penalty assessed here in the past 12 years was given by a jury to J. R. (Bob) Silvers, who was tried early in 1927 for robbery with firearms in connection with the slaying of Roscoe Wilson, Majestic Theater treasurer during a holdup at Fort Worth Jan. 1927.

MEXICANS KILL MRS. FLYNT'S BROTHER

Mrs. L. H. Flynt received a sad message Thursday bearing news of the tragic death of her brother, Clyde Haven, at Clint, near the border line of Mexico. Mr. Haven had gone there to superintend improvement of a place which had recently been purchased by a friend. He was living alone, and after being there for some time, wrote his brother to come and stay with him. Before the brother arrived some one stole into the house and shot him. Then they badly mangled his body by beating. He perhaps had been dead three or four days when found by his brother who happened to come from their home in Uvalde. Mr. Haven was a young man, only 27 years of age, and had a bright future. It seems a terrible thing for one so young to be murdered in such a brutal way, more especially while away from his people and among strangers of another nationality. It is supposed that he was murdered by Mexicans. He was so badly mangled that he was buried near the place killed. The Journal extends their deepest, sympathy to Mrs. Flynt.

Friday February 13 SKELETON OF DINOSAUR IN ALMOST PERFECT PRESERVATION FOUND ON ANDERSON RANCH

Less than 100 years ago the buffalo, the deer, the bear and numerous other wild animals roamed the prairies of the Mountain Creek valley. The beautiful surroundings and the alluvial soils attracted mankind and some of the first settlements in this section of the state were made in this great section.

During the past week there have been developments which lead us to believe that long before the advent of man, even the savages who roamed the prairies, this section was the home of the monsters that inhabited favored sections of this old world.

The head, neck and shoulder bones of a dinosaur, petrified and in perfect condition, have been turned up on the Andy Anderson ranch, three miles west of Cedar Hill and 10 miles south of Grand Prairie. Although desultory diggings with home tools have proceeded only far enough to uncover the twenty foot long neck of the prehistoric monster, those who have see it are confident that its entire skeleton is intact and can be removed with skillful work.

The geology department of Southern Methodist University has been notified and asked to help in unearthing the bones of the huge antediluvian reptile. Its head, in perfect state of preservation, is smaller than that of a horse.

The soil where the skeleton was found is of blue shale. It is less than 100 yards from the Anderson ranch house and was found less than two feet beneath the surface. Some one strolling about the place Sunday noticed a bone protruding and began digging. They found that the bones continued downward, sloping in the giraffe-like form which the animal's body took.

The excavations had proceeded to a twenty-five foot level Monday.

Many people viewed the skeleton after the word spread that it had been found.

Friday February 13 Death of Mrs. David Swaim

Mrs. David Swaim died in a Ft. Worth hospital Wednesday, February 4, at 10:30 a. m.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

The deceased was born in Honey Grove Texas in the year 1901. After the death of her father in 1905, she came to Tarrant County and made her home with her sister, Mrs. L. N. Rutland until her marriage to David Swaim in 1920.

She joined the Baptist Church of Webb when fifteen years of age and remained a member until her death.

The funeral service was held at the church of her membership at 2:00 p. m. Thursday afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Reddy, who officiated at the wedding of Mrs. Swaim, told of the calmness and fortitude that had marked the life of the deceased. He exhorted his listeners to accept "The Christ" who made life sweet and hope eternal.

Talks were also made by Dr. J. M. Price, Pastor, and Rev. R. D. Reese.

A quartet sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

The remains were brought from Fort Worth to the home of Mrs. L. N. Rutland near Arlington, where hundreds of friends called to pay their respects and comfort the relatives in their bereavement.

Mrs. Swaim (nee Zimerude Carroll) had been an invalid for several months. Attacked by an incurable disease. She "fought a good fight." Her hospital attendants said "She is the best patient we ever had." She never complained, she never ceased to hope. A devoted wife, mother and sister she has gone to her eternal resting place. Death came to relieve:

"I shall not see the shadows,
I shall not feel the rain;
I shall not fear the nightingale
Sing as if in pain;
And dreaming through the twilight,
That doth not rise nor set,
Happily I may remember,
And happily may forget."

Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock a car driven by Sam Robinson, age 68, of Dallas and the Johnston Motor Truck had a head-on collision one mile east of Arlington, completely demolishing the Robinson auto and killing him almost instantly. The truck smashed thru front of the Robinson sedan knocking the entire front back, caving it in as far as the seat, and from its (l)ooks after the wreck, no one could wonder at sudden death from such an impact, which threw the entire front of the car where the driver was seated. Mr. Robinson's head and chest were crushed, besides his arms and legs broken in several places. He was so mangled it was hard to get definite identification. A card was found in the car by Moore Funeral Home and after phoning to Dallas, where his car had been registered, his brother A. Robinson was found at Ft. Worth where he had been staying. The truck driven by P. G. Brisendine of Fort Worth, was damaged considerably, but he was not hurt. According to the driver of the truck, Robinson lost control of the car immediately before the collision. The deceased was buried Tuesday afternoon in the Hebrew Rest cemetery at Fort Worth. The men were forced out of the car and he ran them all over the grounds in front of the Masonic Home. He lay down in the middle of the road, stopping traffic, until the highway was blocked a mile each way. Officers were called to help get him subdued but it took several men to get him back in the car. Sheriff Wright arrived on the scene and took him to Fort Worth for keeps until officers of Graham came for him. His strength was almost unbelievable, tossing those men around like they were children. DEATH OF J. A. BIGGERS

When it was learned on March 29th that John A. Biggers had passed to his heavenly home, his relatives and friends, far and near, were saddened beyond expression. It was known he was a very sick man, having been in a hospital for the past two weeks, but from time to time it was thought he was improving, until a change came for worse only a few days ago. He suffered greatly, yet it was hoped he might be spared to longer continue his usefulness. Of his going it can be truly said: "A great and good man has fallen in Israe." (?) "Great because of his exemplary life as a husband, father, neighbor and friend; greater still because of his consecrated life as a Christian. He was a valiant soldier of the cross, ever ready to hold up the banner of his King. Only a few days before he departed this life he called his loved ones to his bedside and admonished them to live true to God; to walk in the straight and narrow road that leads to a heavenly home. In his departure he goes to greet a dear wife who preceded him two years. He felt he was in her very presence, and was bidding the time to go. He bore his afflictions with great Christian fortitude, feeling they were light when compared to the suffering of Christ and little compared to the glory that awaited him beyond the grave. His wonderful faith, like the faith of Moses, made him rely on the promises of God, and trust Him.

John A. Biggers was born June 30, 1859, in Marshal county, Tenn. Was married to Miss Sarah Petty in 1881, and to this union was born six children, who survive him, all being at the bedside when he passed away. He was a consistent consecrated member of the Christian Church, where funeral services were held Tuesday, March 31, at 2:30 p. m. Rev. H. M. Tuesday morning at 6:55 the spirit of Mrs. Frank H. Martin, W. Abram St., took it's flight to a home where there is no suffering. Mrs. Martin was well as usual Monday evening until about 8 o'clock when she was struck with apoplexy and died the next morning, after only a few hours of suffering. In fact she went the way she had hoped to go; for she had been a great sufferer for many years, having had two strokes before this one, and often expressed the wish she would not get helpless. God was good to her in letting her suffering be of short duration.

Mr. Martin and Miss Mollie Rowan were married the 10th of June 1882, and had she lived until June they would have been married 49 years. They moved to Arlington about seven years ago from Lancaster, but their old home was at Martinsmill, Van Zandt county, for many years before coming to this part of the country. They moved to Texas from Alabama in the year 1877. She was a good, kind woman, loved by her neighbors and friends. Her health did not permit visiting very much, but she was ever ready to help in every worthy undertaking her physical condition permitted, always doing things for those who needed it most. She had been a member of the Methodist church ever since a small girl.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Stewart and Rev. S. M. Bennett at the Martin home Wednesday morning at 7:30, leaving immediately for Martinsmill where the services were concluded. Survivors are her husband and one brother Mr. Rowan of Gilmer. Moore Funeral home had charge of the funeral and took the body to Martinsmill.

MRS. W. A. STRICKLAND PASSES ON

Last Saturday in the early hours of the morning the journey of Mrs. Martha Birdwell Strickland on this planet came to an end, and she stepped out into the Great Beyond.

Mrs. Strickland was born in Alabama December 21, 1849, and came with her parents to Texas at about the age of two years, where she since made her home. And great is the development that this pioneer woman witnessed during her more than eighty-one years of life.

Her family lived in East Texas for many years, and in 1869 she was married to W. A. Strickland. To them were born ten children, four of whom still live: Mrs. T. R. Copeland, a daughter of the Watson community, and three sons; Henry Strickland, who makes his home with his sister, Horace Strickland of Wichita Falls, and Charlie Strickland of Oklahoma. All of these were with the mother during her last illness, which lasted a month. A stroke of paralysis brought an end to the activity of this woman, who even in her last years, was always busy, and it was her choice to serve rather than to be served. Always there were certain household duties that she claimed as her own, and right up until the last illness, she kept this independence of others, always doing her part. For the past several years she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Copeland.

Mrs. Strickland joined the Missionary Baptist Church in her early life, and remained a member of this church.

Rev. W. A. Binyon, pastor of the Watson Presbyterian Church had charge of the funeral, assisted by W. T. Rouse of the Arlington Baptist Church. Interment was made in the Arlington Cemetery, by the side of her husband, who died in 1900.

Pall bearers were: Dr. H. V. Copeland and Frank Ford of Grand Prairie, Charlie Bishop and J. F. Connelly of Dallas, Alton Riddle of Houston, and Geo. H. Wessler.

Mrs. B. E. English

Another sad event has crept into the hearts and homes of our community since last writing. Mrs. Strickland, mother of Mrs. Saint Copeland with whom she was making her home at the time of her death. She passed into another world early Saturday morning after a lingering illness with paralysis for about a month. She was prepared to go and said she wanted to go. Her life had been a most beautiful one, full of kind deeds, and good thoughts. Our greatest sympathy goes out to this entire family. We know she will be greatly missed, and we sometimes can't understand just why these greivous things happen. But they are only for the best and to remind us that God still reigns on high. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Saint Copeland, Sunday evening at 2:30, and burial at the Arlington cemetery Sunday evening.

Haley Brock says he is at outs with these snooty aviators who fly real low around Ederville, for Monday afternoon one flew low enough and asked him to show him a good place to make a landing and after Haley running a long quarter of a mile, the aviator gave him a high sign and soared back towards Fort Worth. At any rate Haley says he has the consolation of "no fools, no fun."

Friday May 1 Local Man Collects Life Insurance Through Courts.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cleveland collected insurance for the death of their son, Ellis Jr., which occurred over a year ago when a mule kicked him and he died from injuries received. Mr. Cleveland says insurance was carried for $1000 in the American National Life Insurance Co., but that company refused to settle on terms stated in the contract. Mr. Cleveland employed Alfred McKnight of this city together with other lawyers and received judgment for over $1100 and all costs. They had been paying on this policy for Ellis, Jr. for some time and when taking this policy their main thought was to have it as a saving account when he became a man, but since his life was cut short, they hoped to collect what was coming without trouble, but it seem that was the only way a settlement could be effected.

Death of J. W. Bray

J. W. Bray, pioneer resident of Webb, died at his home south of Webb Wednesday, April 20, 1931, about eleven p. m.

Mr. Bray had been seriously ill since March 1th (?). During the two months prior to his death his physical suffering was great. He bore his pains with a calmness and beauty of spirit worthy of one who, like he, lived an exemplary life.

Funeral services were held at the home of the deceased at 2 p. m. Thursday. The funeral ceremonies were brief. They began with the chanting of the funeral dirge by the large host of friends who had gathered to pay their last respects to the soul of so good a man.

Rev. J. W. Reddy, conducted the services. He told of the life and family of our departed brother and friend.

Bro. Reddy exhorted the living to live so that "We may find life full and complete and meet death, confident of a happier life to come."

Murky skies, and a creeping rain through the early afternoon seemed to mark the day as one of mourning. A large delegation of friends accompanying the remains to Arlington cemetery witnessed the esteem in which Mr. Bray was held. There, free from all suffering and pain was laid the body that had so patiently borne the cares and sorrows of time. A devoted husband, an admirable father; at peace with God and man, he sleeps of the just and good. A mystery, and peace prevade to remain unbroken until he is called "That house not made with hands." Mr. Bray and Miss Addie Pearson were married several years ago and to this union were born eight children, seven of whom survive. Five sons, Thomas, Howard, Otis, Morris, Henry, and two daughters, Misses Ellen and Esther, besides four brothers, L. G. and T. A. Bray of Cedar Hill, John and Adolf Bray of Georgia. OLDEST INTERURBAN CONDUCTOR DEAD;
TWENTY-NINE YEARS WITH TRACTION COMPANY

E. S. Wright, oldest conductor in service for the Interurban, passed away at his home in Handley Thursday afternoon. Mr. Wright left his home Thursday morning as well as usual, but on his arrival at Boundery near Dallas, at 11:15, he asked for relief, saying he was not feeling well. He returned on the next Interurban, turned in his money and necessary reports and went home, where he lay down, thinking he would soon be alright. When his wife went in to see about him at 4 o'clock, she found he was slowly passing away. He only lived a few minutes after being found in that condition. He had sausage for breakfast and it was thought he had acute indigestion or heart trouble.

Mr. Wright had many friends in Arlington who will miss him. He has been in charge of the Interurban through this city since 1902, being the oldest conductor in point of service on this line. Luther Thompson, who lives in Arlington, and Mr. Wright generally made the run together, Mr. Johnson being his motorman. Twenty nine years of service with one line is a fine record. He was loved and appreciated by people all along the line he has traversed for many years.

Friday May 18 ISHAM CHAPEL HOME COMING

Keeping in mind the faith of their forefathers who settled in the community before Tarrant County was organized, a group of life long members of Isham Chapel, the county's oldest church of the Protestant Methodist denomination, gathered Sunday and observed the fifty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the congregation; a number of whom remembered attending services there more than forty and fifty years ago.

Several former pastors were among the guests present; Rev. J. M. Scott of Klondike preached the morning sermon; Rev. George C. Davis of Handley was the afternoon speaker, while Rev. V. H. Arnold of Smithfield, the present pastor, presided over the services. Good old fashioned basket lunches were spread under the arbor of which several hundred hungry people partook.

Isham Chapel is nestling amid a group of giant oaks about one mile north of the new bridge at the old Randol Mill site. This church has endured many transformations since established by Grandpa (W. M.) Isham in 1872, with an original building of eighteen by twenty-four feet and built by work donated by carpenters and farmers who resided near by. Different members of the Reeves family, pioneers of this community, recall the progress of the church step by step, from the time Sunday School and preaching services were conducted under a crude brush arbor long before the chapel was built. Among the distinguished guests other than former pastors previously were Rev. A. E. Gammage, Fort Worth farmer pastor in 1911; Mrs. Mary Coble, Arlington, Mrs. S. J. Johnson, Fort Worth, and Mrs. John Anderson, D. McGinnis, Jesse D. Reeves, who recalled that the automobiles now replace the horses, wagons and buggys of yesteryears. The meeting ended with the hymn "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" when teardrops filled many eyes thinking of the absent loved ones who have passed on, and some doubting that they will ever enjoy just such another celebration.

The younger generation are trying to continue the good work for at present they have an active Sunday School service, church services twice each month and a young peoples Christian service which meets each Sunday evening. These young people are truly being encouraged in this good work.

Shooting Affray At Euless Causes Death of W. M. Poole

Last Thursday evening about 8 o'clock Eugene W. McMurray, age 32 is said to have drove up to the H. H. Fuller store at Euless, called to W. M. Poole age 41 who was sitting a bench in front of the store, and as Poole approached in response to the call, McMurray shot from the seat of his car, hitting Poole in the neck, but not mortally wounding him. Poole ran into a garage trying to get away, but finding the back door closed, came back and entered the store from the front which adjoined the garage. As he did so, McMurray jumped out of the car and with a shotgun shot Poole in the side through the screen door of the Fuller store. After this shooting both men scuffled over the gun, McMurray finally succeeding in taking it from Poole after he had fallen in a swoon. McMurray started to shoot Poole again, but bystanders asked him not to. Mr. Poole was rushed to Ft. Worth in an ambulance but died on the way. McMurray got in his car and drove to the Poole home about two miles from Euless, and is said to have forced his wife and baby to get in the car with him and the two year old son who had been with him since the separation and come back to the place of the killing. He told Mrs. Poole what he had done.

The trouble was supposed to have been on account of the separation of the McMurray's. Mrs. McMurray and a year old baby went to the Poole home about two months ago to live since she was a niece of Mrs. Poole and had no where else to make home.

McMurray tried to get his wife to go with him, but she talked him out of the thought. He then decided to give up, and drove into Ft. Worth while officers were already on the way for him. He had surrendered when the officers returned to Ft. Worth and was being quizzed by the District Attorney while he held his little two-year-old son in his lap asleep. Officers returned the child to its mother at Euless that night.

McMurray borrowed the gun from an old neighbor, H. F. Devenport, telling him that he was down on the creek fishing and wanted to kill some rabbits. He had tried to borrow guns before this, but some of his neighbors had heard of the trouble and would not loan him a gun.

Mr. Poole was a good citizen, and an upright, honorable man.

Funeral services were conducted at the Euless church where hundreds viewed the body of one they said had given his life to protect one of his kin, who was left helpless with a little baby in her arms. Interment was at Arlington cemetery Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Survivors are: his widow and six children Mrs. R. I. Ferris Misses Willie Ruth Laverne and Evon Poole, Massey and Kenneth Poole.

DEATH OF W. M. POOLE

On last Thursday evening May 28th at about eight o'clock Euleess experienced one of the greatest tragedies in history. As the dark shadow of death came to one of the most loved and honored homes in our neighborhood. When Eugene McMurry of Cleburne shot and killed Walter M. Poole.

The shooting took place in the front doorway of the H. H. Fuller store on the main St. of Euleess.

Mr. Poole was sitting on a bench in front of the store with other men when McMurry drove up and called to him. He answered his call by going to the car, after a few words the shooting took place. Mr. Poole fled but all in vain.

The whole neighborhood is heavy hearted and sad over such a terrible shock and the loss of a good man, and we wish to join this dear family in their grief and we hope that in some way we can lend a helping hand to them in this most trying time. We can't find words to express our deepest sympathy for them but we would say to them, go to the Lord in prayer and he will supply your needs. Don't think that God is unjust and unmerciful for when he calls one of his brave soldiers home he only has a better and sweeter place for them and at their going away we must feel that our loss is heavens gain.

Mr. Walter M. Poole was born at Italy Texas, January 21, 1890. He became a member of the Methodist church at Bethel at the age of 21.

He was married in 1911, and to this union was born 4 girls; Florene, Willie Ruth, Laverne, and Eyvon; two boys: Massie and Kenneth, besides the children he is survived by his wife and one sister, Mrs. Vera Parr of Waxahachie.

IN MEMORIAN (Contributed By A Friend)

This entire community was thrown into a plight of sadness last Thursday evening, when the death angel so suddenly unfolded its wings over the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Poole, and bore away this devoted husband and father. We do not understand why a man like this must be taken away from loved ones, friends and neighbors but we know it is written: God knoweth and doeth all things well to those who love the Lord. So we feel that when God has plucked a flower like this from his garden, that He in His tender mercy has spared some unprepared, that they too might have another chance to prepare themselves for eternal life.

"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord." So let us be thankful that He hath given us such jewels and allowed us to keep them as long as he saw fit. And even though the cup seems bitter and the sting so hard let us rejoice in that heaven is made brighter in his going away. Let us feel that we have a greater interest up there than ever before.

No matter how hard the battle you fight nor how dark and steep the path you climb, victory is sublime. So loved ones keep your eyes upward and climb, and climb, and climb.

It is sometimes hard to understand why the good must suffer at the hand of the wicked but it has happened on different occasions, so we have consolation in knowing that although the good may suffer for other people's sins, there is a crown awaiting where eternal life begins.

Mr. Poole came to our community about two years ago. He came not as a stranger but came as a man who wanted to live with and for his neighbors and fellow-men. He was loved and respected by the entire neighborhood. And we wish to join the family in their grief and sorrow and extend to them our heart felt sympathy.

Walter M. Poole was born at Italy Texas, January 21, 1890. Death came at the age of 41 years 4 months and 7 days. He was converted and joined the Methodist church at Bethel at the age of 21. He married in 1911. He is survived by his wife Mrs. W. M. Poole, 4 daughters, Mrs. R. I. Ferris, Willie Ruth, Laverne, and Eyvon, 2 sons Massie and Kenneth, and one sister Mrs. Vera Parr of Waxahachie.

Friday June 26 Jury Gives McMurray 50 Years For Killing Poole

Eugene W. McMurray, 29, was given a fifty-year penitentiary term by a jury in Criminal District court Thursday morning which found him guilty of the murder of his wife's uncle, W. M. Poole, 47.

The jury retired at 11 o'clock Wednesday night and continued its deliberations until 8:30 a. m. Thursday, when it reported a verdict had been reached.

Both Poole and McMurray were farmers near Euless, a small town northeast of this city. McMurray killed Poole with a shotgun in a family dispute which resulted when Mrs. McMurray moved to Poole's home. The shooting occurred on May 28.

The state contended that McMurray deliberately went about preparations to kill Poole and that there was no justification for the homicide. The defense argued that Poole was keeping McMurray from the latter's wife and that McMurray had a right to see her.

Friday June 26 TARRANT COUNTY POLITICIAN PROMINENT IN MOLDING EARLY TEXAS HISTORY

(PICTURE)

Hon. Nicolas Darnell, Deceased

The above picture is that of Hon. Nicolas Darnell, deceased, who was very prominent in early Texas politics and who accomplished many outstanding things to make life easier and happier for the common people. Mrs. C. C. Rockenbaugh, of Arlington, is his granddaughter and is very proud of her grandfather's history. She was reared in Handley, but moved to Arlington from Mineral Wells about four years ago. Her grandfather died near Handley and Mrs. Rockenbaugh lived with him at that time. The following account of Hon. Nicolas Darnell's life is very interesting.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF GENERAL NICHOLS HENRY DARNELL

Nichols Henry Darnell was born in Williamson county Tenn., on April 20th 1807 was the youngest child of Nicholas Darnell and Nannie Branch Flewellen. His father died ten days before his birth. He was reared by his grandfather, William Flewellen. He married Miss Isabella Cozart of Carroll Co. Tenn. on 3rd of March 1829. Her maternal ancestry came from England and at an early day settled in Va. Her mother was a Howard of the illustrious House of Howards of England. She had many illustrious ancestors the Allens, Grants, Hunts, Pinkneys and Potters. Robert Potter Secy of the Navy during Texas independence of N. C. and Texas notoriety was her cousin. Her brothers followed her to Texas and cast their destinies with her in time of need. Her brother Henderson Cozart was one of the ill-fated Fannin men and all Texans know their fate. She was a close confidential friend of most all the old Texas heroes. Gen. N. H. Darnell went into politics several years after his marriage and first entered the political field in 1835 as a candidate for the Legislature of Tenn., was defeated by 8 votes. In 1837 was selected without opposition but resigned in 1838 to make arrangements to come to Texas for the purpose of assisting in her struggles for independence, and freedom. He located in San Augustine Co. in 1841 was elected to the Congress of the Republic of Texas. His opponents were Wyatt Hanks and R. L. Anderson.

He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1845, which framed much of our present constitution. He not only helped to frame the constitution but was author of a number of the laws that made it. I will only mention one, The Homestead Law, which has since been adopted by other nations. What first put this in his mind when a small lad in Tenn., he would go with his uncle Shadrack Flewellen whose duty it was to collect debts from the people. He saw poor women and children ejected from their homes. He resolved in his mind then he would do something to stop the pitifulness of it at some time. His idea in making this law was to help the weak and helpless and no other.

While serving in this convention it showed its appreciation of him by sending him as one of the bearers of the constitution they had framed to the Government at Washington which was a distinguished honor, and was sought after by many members of that body. While he was in Washington negotiating the treaty of Annexation of Texas to the U. S. the constitution adopted was to go into effect from and after the organization of the State government. On 2nd of November, President Jones was directed to order an election to be held on 3rd of December for Governor, Lieutenant and members of the Legislature. Candidates for the several offices to be filled did not wait for the presidents proclamation to make their announcements. J. P. Henderson, A. C. Horten of Matagorda county soon entered the field for governor and lieutenant, very little interest was shone and after these names had been before the public for sometime. Dr. James Miller of Washington Co. and N. H. Darnell of San Augustine Co. were put forward as candidates at a meeting held at Bernham. N. H. Darnell was in Washington at the time he came home to find another honor had been conferred upon him but had no time to canvass for the office, but it appeared in the first returns that Darnell was elected and sworn in but the returns were slow coming in and when later a small majority came in which gave Horton a few more votes Darnell promptly resigned the office he could have honorably held but more honorably declined.

He was a member of the Legislature in 1881 and during part of the time speaker of the house. In 1874 he was Sergeant at Arms of the house of Representatives and a member of the constitutional convention in 1875 of which his name headed the list. He was the only member of the convention of 1875 of which his name headed the list that was a member of the convention of 1845. He was representing this convention of 1875, Tarrant, Dallas, and Ellis Counties. At this time Ft. Worth was just a small struggling village without a railroad, but had a franchise with the T. P. to come into Ft. Worth which they would loose if they failed to get the road into Ft. Worth during this term of the Legislature which met the 2nd Tuesday in January 1876. Tarrant County was represented in that body by the Hon. Nicholas Darnell. The Legislature had finished its labors early in July and the Senate had passed a concurrent resolution of adjournment and sent it over to the house. The rails of the T. & P. were some miles east of Ft. Worth and adjournment of the legislature meant the sacrifice of the magnificent landed domain which it had surveyed and plotted. Then commenced the most strenuous parliamentary battle recorded in the history of this or any other state. The friends of the railway company refused to adopt resolutions of adjournment. The vote was so close that the absence of a single friend of the R. R. company might mean disaster. General Darnell the member from this company was one of those who voted against adjournment. The General was sick not able to sit up, but was carried into the hall every day on a cot and voted "No" on the resolution to adjourn Si ni die (?) and voted "aye" on a motion to adjourn until the following day. This was continued for 15 days in which time by working day and night laying rails they succeeded in their efforts to run the first train into Fort Worth. The General felt that his untiring efforts while sick was well repaid by serving the people who had trusted him to represent them. General Darnell was at all times a staunch democrat, was a commissioned officer in the Confederacy, commander of the 18th Texas Cavalry, enlisted in Dallas Texas 1861. The 18th company's flag was made in his home and now reposes furled in the capital at Austin Texas. He helped organize the first Masonic lodge in Texas, was a charter member and occupied the position of Grand Master and Grand High Priest of Masons of Texas. This lodge was established in San Augustine at a very early day in Texas history. General N. H. Darnell died in Tarrant county in July 1885 at the age of 75 years. Is buried in old Masonic grave yard in Dallas Texas.

Friday July 3 IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. SPRADLING

Again our circle is broken! One of our number is called to the home not built with hands, but with acts of love and kindness. Our classmate, Mrs. F. E. Spradling, has gone to join her beloved husband who has been waiting for her in their heavenly home.

We will miss our friend who always had a pleasant word and smile for all. But our loss is her gain. May we so live that we may join her in the land of peace and joy.

As a class, we express our love and sympathy to Mrs. Spradling's loved ones, and may God in His love and mercy be near and comfort them in this sad hour.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of Mrs. L. H. Spradling, and a copy also sent to the "Arlington Journal."

Friday July 10 JOHN T. WHITE By Mrs. John C. Pruitt

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hood who reside on the Handley farm wish to express to them their most heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour upon the death of their baby Monday night. The little body was laid to rest in the Isham cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. About this time last year the death angel visited this same home and bore away a younger child. Besides the parents the little one is survived by three other brothers and sisters.

Friday July 10 DEATH OF MRS. LUCY CROSS

The death summons came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Horton early Saturday morning at 6:45 taking from them Mrs. Lucy Cross, mother of Mrs. Horton.

Mrs. Cross was born in Tennessee in 1844 and came to Texas with her parents at the age of 6. They moved to Dallas county where they lived for many years. She married Enoch Horton in 1858, and after his death married Mr. Cross. They moved to Midland where they resided until his death a few years ago. Since that time she has been making her home with an only child, Mrs. Horton. They moved here about six years ago. She died Saturday morning at 6:45 after 8 day's illness with pneumonia. It was her request that only a short funeral service be held. The seventeenth chapter of John and the twenty-third Psalm were read by her pastor, Rev. H. M. Redford with only a song or two and no comments. This request was granted together with one that her two aged brothers be notified after the funeral was held for they are old and she feared the trip would be too much for them. This was the kind of a life she lived—one of sacrifice for others. She was practically an invalid but cheerfulness in the home of her only child meant much to the entire family. She was thoughtful, considerate and always looked for the good in each individual. She even helped to select the place where her body should be laid when she passed into another world. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Horton on S. Center Saturday afternoon. Rev. Redford officiating. Interment at Rose Hill cemetery. Survivors one daughter, Mrs. Horton, two brothers, L. C. Lanier of Bentonville, Ark., and O. F. Lanier of Seagoville.

Friday July 10 T. FRANK ANDERSON, AGE 48 DEAD

The entire community was under a shadow of gloom Saturday when news came from a Fort Worth hospital that T. Frank Anderson's spirit had departed. Only one week ago he was taken to the hospital for an operation for appendicitis. At first it was thought he was doing nicely, but later complications set up that medical aid could not control and after several days of agony, caused from intense suffering, he died Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. Mr. Anderson was born Nov. 11, 1882, in Forsythe county, Georgia, and came to Texas with his parents at the age of 4. Was married to Miss Lillie Moorhead Dec. 16, 1901, and to this union was born one son, Norbert of Fort Worth, and two daughters, Mrs. Clara Nolen of Ft. Worth and Miss Nina Mae of this city, who were at his bedside during illness and death. He joined the Baptist church at an early age. He and his family moved to Arlington about six years ago where he engaged in the cafe business until the election of Sheriff J. R. Wright four years ago when Mr.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

Anderson was appointed deputy sheriff. He was a man well known and appreciated especially by those who had the privilege of close association. He was at all times honorable and upright in his dealings with his fellowman, ever ready to serve a friend. He was one of the most popular officers in the county, this being fully demonstrated at his funeral when state, county, and city officers came to pay respect to their departed co-worker. The state motorcycle cops led the funeral procession to the church and then to the cemetery, followed by county and city officials. Floral offerings are said to be one of the largest ever placed around a casket in this city. It was a demonstration of love and respect greatly appreciated by loved ones. All traffic was stopped as the funeral procession wended it's way to Rose Hill cemetery. On arrival four patrolmen had the gates standing ajar with all traffic on highway at a standstill as the cemetery was entered. Rev. W. T. Rouse, pastor of Arlington Baptist church and Rev. H. B. Hensley of Fort Worth Baptist church officiated at the funeral Sunday afternoon at Arlington Baptist church. Survivors are one son and two daughters, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Anderson of Dublin, and five brothers, L. M. of Ft. Worth, Horace H. of Vernon, Ray of Oakland, California, Claud of Oklahoma City, Okla., Norwell of Arlington, one sister Mrs. A. Cathey of Vernon, Pallbearers were Sheriff J. R. Wright, Punch Wright, D. L. Rains, Joe Collins, Malcolm Davis and Frank Rimmer.

Death of Benton Randolph Elliott

Thursday morning about 1:30 Benton Randolph Elliott, aged 41, died at a hospital in Ft. Worth after four week's of serious illness. Mr. Elliott had a siege of the flu several years ago when he lived in West Texas and since that time has not been a well man, although for several years nursed by his father who was almost an invalid, passing away about one year ago. His tender watch over his father during those long months of confinement won the admiration of many who knew of his kindness. For several months his health has been on the decline and he had to undergo two minor operations the last few months. Yet with all the skill of physicians, nothing more could be done. He was a man who was loved and appreciated most by those with whom he had been so closely associated during all these years. He was born and reared in this community, living near Rehobeth church south of the city, until they moved to Arlington several years ago. Funeral services will be held at Rehobeth church this afternoon at 3:30. Leaving the home on West Abrams at 3:00. Rev. S. M. Bennett and the Masonic Lodge will officiate. Survivors are his mother and four brothers, Ed Elliott of Waco, Russ Elliott of Amarillo, Joe Elliott of Lubbock, and Culbert Elliott of this city.

OFFICER RUNS 100 MILES AN HOUR TO CATCH SPEEDERS

Last Saturday night while State Patrolmen Timms and Wheeler were stopped west of here two cars raced madly past and they went in pursuit. Timms overtook one of the cars at Death Crossing but the other was going much faster. Timms brought his man in and Wheeler went after the other, bringing him back but in doing so ran his motorcycle at the tremendous rate of 100 miles an hour, as shown by the check hand on the speedometer.

Both men were charged with speeding before Justice Johnston and entered pleas of guilty.

Friday July 24 DEATH OF MRS. FRANK BETTIS

Just one year ago the Journal had the privilege of chronicling the happy marriage of two of Arlington's most popular young people, Frank Bettis and Miss Juanita Noah, which culminated after several month's love and courtship. This couple would have celebrated their 1st wedding anniversary the day she was buried had she lived to see that day. Their happy married life was cruelly cut short when they had just made plans to buy a home. Both were working to save for the day they would be together in a newly furnished home of their own and were progressing step by step towards that end.

Mrs. Bettis had been employed as telephone operator for five years and the following employes Misses Loretta Wiley, Willie Mae Wilshire, Marjorie Wright, Martha Spurling, Mesdames Carrie Holman, Kate Yankee, Cora Tims, Lillian Opitz, C. R. Owen and F. M. Kennon of Arlington and Mrs. Maidie King of Dallas escorted the body to the lawn where each carried a large spray or wreath. An especially beautiful one was carried by two telephone employes, with the words "Our Pal" on it in golden letters. It seemed providential the sun was covered by a dark cloud that made it possible for hundreds to stand for the funeral held on the lawn of the Noah home which was impressively performed by Rev. S. M. Bennett. Singing was led by Mrs. O. V. Eberly assisted by the Standard Bearers Wesley class and others. This was one of the largest funeral processions that Arlington has had for many years. Friends came from far and near to pay their last respects to this fine Christian character, whose body was surrounded by flowers placed near the casket and on the ground. Mrs. Bettis was born July 27, 1910, married to Frank Bettis July 19, 1930, died July 18, 1931. Survivors are her husband, Frank Bettis; father, Bud Noah; stepmother, Mrs. Bud Noah; two brothers, Olen and George Noah; two step brothers, Starling and Travis Ward; and grandmother, Mrs. Tennie Noah, who took Mrs. Bettis when she was only eight years of age after her mother died. She has been her grandmother's constant companion since that time.

Pallbearers: Russell Cawthon, Jewel Martin, Dewey Kilpatrick, Roland Turck, Lawrence Evans, and Vernon Percelly.

DEATH OF MRS. E. E. COKE

Mrs. E. E. Coke, pioneer resident of Webb died at her home in Webb Thursday July 16th 1931 at 6:20 a. m. Mrs. Coke had been in failing health for some time and had been confined to her bed for about two months. All during her illness she had been very patient and hopeful of getting well, up to the day of her death, she called her children around her, and told them the end was near and bade them good-by. Her death was unexpected at this time and only two daughters, Mrs. Ora Etherege and Mrs. Athea Winn and her son Luther, were at her bed side when the end came, which was very peaceful and without a struggle which she had prayed it might be. As she lies down to pleasant dreams her soul went home to God, and was welcomed with these words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter now into the joys of thy Lord." Mrs. Coke was a loving mother a kind good neighbor and friend. She had been a Christian and member of the Methodist church for sixty years. Friday July 24 DEATH OF JOSEPH E. ELLIOTT AGED 71.

Thursday evening about 6 o'clock Joseph L. Elliott took suddenly ill with heart failure and passed at 7:00. Up to the time of the heart attack he was seemingly well as usual. Mr. Elliott was born at Johnson Station March 25, 1860 and was reared in this county, living here most of his life. Several years ago Mr. Elliott and family moved to Merkel, but only stayed a year or two, coming back to his old home where he knew every one and every one knew him. He has lived one mile west of Arlington for many years. He is known as one of the most successful cattlemen of the state. He was the only surviving member of a family well known in the cattle industry of a decade ago and the youngest child. Only one year ago his only brother passed to his reward. His word was his honor and in dealing with his fellowmen he was at all times honorable and upright. Last year at the age of 70 the Masonic Lodge honored Mr. Elliott by making him a life member. He has been a member of Arlington Lodge for many years and has always been active in his duties to that Lodge.

He is survived by his wife and 10 children: John W. Elliott and George T. Elliott, Kress; Mrs. Ed H. Rudd, Maryneal; Mrs. Leroy Forsythe, New London, Conn.; Mrs. Patsy Elliott McCracken, Mrs. Luther Thompson, Mrs. Howard B. Slaughter, Joseph Elliott, all of Arlington.

Funeral services will be held today at 10 o'clock a. m. at the First Baptist church tabernacle. Rev. W. T. Rouse and Dr. Geo. Fender officiating. The Arlington Masonic Lodge will have charge of the body at the cemetery.

Friday July 24 Mrs. Guy Suicides By Taking Poison

Mrs. Eugenia Guy, aged 28, died at a hospital at Ft. Worth Saturday morning about 7 o'clock after taking bi-chlorie tablets on Wednesday before. Mrs. Guy's husband shot and killed himself while in bed by the side of his wife in Savannah, Georgia, about six weeks ago. The shock from this terrible tragedy caused her to be despondent. Her people thought perhaps a change of environment would help to overcome her trouble, but she kept worrying even after arriving in Texas about five weeks ago, where she came to stay with her sister, Mrs. M. C. Arnold and family. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold had to go to Tulsa, Okla., on business and took her along but she decided to return to Arlington and came back alone and occupied the Arnold home from Friday until Wednesday. While in a fit of despondency she took poison. After taking the tablets she wrote her sister and other relatives telling them where to bury her, what clothes to use and even told the color of casket preferred, naming where she wished to be buried. Those letters were not found until next day after the funeral. Her requests were not in keeping with those of a sane person, showing plainly she was not herself, yet she declared in the letters she knew what she was doing and knew she would die. After finishing the letters she placed them in a grip and walked across the street to Dr. and Mrs. Zac Bobo's home, telling them what she had done. They were asked to not send for an ambulance as she did not want to go to a hospital. She was a nurse by profession, and a member of Savannah Eastern Star which lodge wired Arlington Eastern Star Chapter to take charge of the services which were held at Moore Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 4:30. They were assisted by Rev. G. C. McMinn, a Baptist minister. Survivors are: her father, Paul B. Hodges of Detroit, Mich.; mother, Mrs. S. J. Williams; sisters, Mrs. Guy Barbee, Misses Marjorie and Catharine Hodges and brother, Ralph Hodges of Savannah, Ga., and sister Mrs. M. C. Arnold of this city. Interment was in Parkdale cemetery.

Friday July 24 DEATH OF Z. T. MELEAR By Mrs. J. T. Short

With a sad heart we write an account of the death of our dear friend, Z. T. Melear who passed away last Thursday afternoon after an illness of only a few days. He had been seemingly well until Sunday when he was taken suddenly ill and continued to grow worse until the end came. Funeral services were held at Johnson Station Tabernacle Friday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. J. C. Collier of Forest Hill assisted by Superintendent M. H. Moore of Fort Worth. Interment was in the Johnson Station cemetery. A large crowd and one of the largest and most beautiful floral offerings bespeak for him that he had a host of friends and loved ones who mourn his passing. Survivors are his dear good wife, two sons, Julian and Doak Melear, and two daughters, Miss Lillian Melear and Mrs. Sallie M. Youngblood all of Fort Worth.

To know Mr. Melear was to love him for he was always kind and good and ever ready and willing to serve his fellowmen. He bore his suffering and pain bravely to the end. He will be greatly missed by loved ones and friends but his going makes Heaven sweeter and gives us a brighter hope for the future.

Yes, he's gone, but not forever,
For 'ere long we hope to meet
His dear face, ere sweet and smiling,
In that Blessed Land of Peace.

Friday August 7 FIVE YEAR OLD CHILD DROWNS AT SWIMMING PARTY

Dr. J. O. Roark and sister, Dr. Maude Roark, were called to Grand Saline Thursday on account of the death of their five-year-old niece, Johnnie Allene Luce. Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Luce were attending a band concert and swimming party near Grand Saline when the mother sat at the water's edge watching while her children were playing around where it was shallow and not realizing it was possible for a child to get away so quickly she turned to speak to some friends. After talking a minute or two she looked to see if her children were safe and could not locate the child. The alarm was given and in a few moments the child's body was found where it had drifted down into deeper water. The father was directing the band wholly unaware his child was so near death's door. The parents are grief-stricken over this sad accident.

Friday August 21 DEATH OF MRS. R. E. THOMAS

The many friends of Mrs. R. E. Thomas were grieved to learn of her death in New York City on Aug. 10. Though her illness dated from an operation over a year ago and she has been in the hospital for the last several months, the news came as a shock and with much regret.

Mrs. Thomas possessed many fine characteristics, being loyal and true in friendship and capable in any activity she undertook. Her nature was generous and kind and she gave herself unstintingly to any service that had been hers to perform. Since going to New York she had worked diligently for a Masters Degree which would have been conferred in June, 1930, had it not been for her illness. She had a very prominent position as assistant manager of the cafeteria of the Teachers College on the campus of Columbia University. Her life was one of sacrificial effort to attain her high aims and ambitions, which makes her death especially untimely and sorrowful.

Burial took place in Woodlawn Cemetery, one of the oldest and most beautiful in New York City located near Van Cortlandt Park. It is customary when one connected with Columbia University passes away, to have the Chaplin conduct the service, so Chaplin Knox and the pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church conducted the service at the cemetery. Many Texas friends were present, among them, Ray McKnight of Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were formerly citizens of Arlington. Mr. Thomas taught History and was also assistant dean of N. T. A. C.

The loving sympathy of friends goes out to Mr. Thomas in his immeasurable grief and sorrow over the loss of such a loved one.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY A. PLATT

By Eva Rountree

Following a lingering illness, Mrs. Mary A. Platt, 91, well known and beloved Tarrant county woman, died at the Eastern Star Home Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Platt was a pioneer of Arlington having come here about 40 years ago. She was a faithful worker in the W. C. T. U. for many years, more especially during early life. She was one of the most consecrated Christians in the community. Even when she was helpless and had to be lifted into a car to be driven to 'her church' as she called it—The Church of Christ—she looked forward to "going to worship with her dear brothers and sisters." About two years ago her eyesight began to fail and it was hard to submit to being blind, but after all she tried to reconcile to her lot. She never missed a church service until only a few months ago, when her health began to fail and she was not able to go, but (s)he has stayed true to God and never ceased to thank Him for prolonged life. Mrs. Platt was born March 10, 1841, at Quincy, Ill., and came to the Eastern Star Home to make her home May 26, 1926.

Funeral services were held at the Eastern Star Home Wednesday afternoon at 4:00. Bro. Jno. Barnhill, pastor of the Church of Christ officiating. Interment at Arlington cemetery beside her husband who passed on many years ago. Survivors are one daughter: Mrs. T. O. Murphy at McKinney; three sons: W. L. and Emmett of Dallas, and W. H. of McKinney.

DEATH OF EDD CREMER

By Mrs. H. E. Caton

Last Saturday afternoon, August 29, the community was greatly saddened because of the death of one of her finest young men, Edd Cremer of Johnson Station. After suffering from a very critical illness for six weeks, Edd was released from the pain of this world to join his heavenly father, in whom he had put his trust at an early age.

Edd Cremer, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Cremer, was reared at Johnson Station and was a faithful member of the Woods Chapel Baptist Church, at which place funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, interment being made in the Woods Chapel cemetery. At the time of his death, in a Ft. Worth hospital, he was twenty-two years old.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

Some slight idea of the great esteem in which this fine young character was held, could be gathered from viewing the throngs of friends who attended the funeral services and the unusually large number who visited his bedside during his last illness. It is very seldom that one so young has won the love and respect of so many friends. Edd Cremer never had an enemy, for his wonderfully lovable personality drew friendship like a magnet.

Edd lived a beautiful Christian life and died a truly remarkable Christ-like death. During his brief life, his consistent uprightness and honest in business affairs, his demonstration of love, appreciation and respect at home with his loved ones, and his agreeable, kind, and accommodating spirit, with his friends, impressed everyone who knew him. During his last days, Edd's thoughts were ever turned heavenward and many of his last hours were spent in prayer for his lost friends and in listening to the reading of God's word, realizing that he was soon to die, Edd prayed that God's will might be done.

The sympathy of the citizens of Arlington is extended to the family in the loss of their greatly loved son. Their grief is great, but the comforting thought that Edd is safe and secure from all suffering and sorrow, and is even now enjoying eternal life, will help them in this time of trouble.

Edd Cremer is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Cremer, five sisters, Mrs. Charles Jones, Ft. Worth, Mrs. Chas. Huffman, Kennedale, Misses Velma, Beatrice and Florence Marie Cremer; and two brothers, Thomas and Harold Cremer, all of Johnson Station.

Pall bearers were Edd's personal friends, William Bardin, Lester Matlock, Jake Rose, L. P. Smith, Ray Lawing, and Frank McCollum.

Friday September 4 1931 JOHNSON STATION By Mrs. J. T. Short

On last Saturday afternoon, at four o'clock, a gloom of sadness spread throughout our community when news was received of the death of Edd Cremer who passed away at a Fort Worth hospital after an illness of several weeks. Although Edd had spent days of suffering and it was known by his physicians that he could not get well his passing came as a shock to everyone.

Edd was twenty-two years of age, was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Cremer and had spent most of his lifetime as a resident of Johnson Station community. He possessed a quiet, sweet disposition and his lovable character made him admired and loved by all who knew him. The large crowd and the beautiful floral offering at his funeral bespoke for him the host of friends that he had. Although he will be greatly missed by his friends and loved ones and there will always be that vacant place in the family circle. We have the sweet consolation of knowing that he is safe in the arms of Jesus as was proved by his testimonies and prayers before he went away. Funeral services were held at the Woods Chapel Baptist church, where Edd had been a consistent member for several years, the largest attending that ever was known to gather in this community. Services were conducted by the pastor, Bro. Walton assisted by Rev. Ike T. Sidebottom and Rev. Henry Brannon, pastor of Tate Springs church. Interment was in Johnson Station cemetery Sunday afternoon. We extend to the bereaved loved ones the tenderest sympathy of this community in their hours of sadness. Out of town relatives attending the funeral Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Green and son, Jess of Weatherford and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Green and son Herschel of Burleson.

Ike T. Sidebottom will preach Saturday night at Johnson Station Tabernacle on "The Triumphant Death of Ed (sic) Cremer."

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

Rev. Sidebottom will use the Scripture to throw light on the following questions: What about death bed testimonies; Where are the dead, will we know one another in heaven? The service will be especially for young people but all are invited.

Friday September 11 DEATH OF MRS. CUMPTON

The sad news of the passing of a great and grand woman, Mrs. John Cumpton, 208 W. Main flashed over the wires Friday morning at 10:50 from a hospital in Ft. Worth where she was taken about three weeks ago on account of a broken hip. A new cast had been replaced only a few days before and it was thought she was doing nicely until Friday morning when she began to sink. In a few hours she breathed her last.

Mrs. Cumpton was a pioneer of Tarrant county having moved here together with her husband when Arlington was quite a small town. She was unassuming and a great lover of home and children. Neighbors loved her for the many kind acts bestowed on them during her lifetime and her passing will leave a vacancy in the community as well as the particular neighborhood where she lived so long. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Moore Funeral Home. Interment was at Arlington cemetery. Rev. S. M. Bennett officiating. Mrs. James P. Holman of Ft. Worth sang an impressive solo at the services. Survivors are a husband, a son, W. A. Cumpton of Ft. Worth, and two daughters, Mrs. R. C. Stroup, Ft. Worth, and Mrs. W. R. Harkrider of Brownwood.

Friday September 11 Old Timer Tells Interesting Story

In conversation with one of our old-time townsmen, Rev. D. C. Sibley, a few days ago, we gleaned from his past a very interesting history which we feel sure his friends will enjoy. Rev. Sibley moved to Arlington in 1894 from Quitman, Ark., bringing his wife and children, Roger, Gertrude, Myrtle and Bess. He was a teacher by profession graduating from Quitman college but after coming to Texas only taught one school, which was at Johnson Station. He felt the call to preach and was licensed to preach in 1895. In 1896 he was ordained as a local minister, at Georgetown University and from that time has given his best service in the Master's work until stricken with paralysis about two years ago. Since that time he has always responded to calls wherever needed, but is not physically able to work as he used to. Rev. Sibley has had great responsibilities but has at all times made good provision for his family. He has been manager of the Ft. Worth Cotton and Oil Co. gin at this place, at the same old stand on S. Center for the past 23 years. He has served the Masonic bodies as secretary for 30 years and was recently elected to begin his 31st years work. Rev. Sibley was asked about the inhabitants of Arlington when he came here 37 years ago and replied that there were about 300 of 400 people living here at that time; that the Mineral Well had just been completed, water troughs were placed around the well and on the square where horses and cows drank. In fact this was the water supply even for the cattle and it was accessible to all. He laughingly said: "Just think how many brick stores we have now and there was only one at that time. It was on the lot where J. H. Purvis now has his grocery store. But, we had a good town even with only 300 or 400 inhabitants." He then began to mention some of the merchants who were in business at that time. In recalling those names he would often say uncle so and so, as they were familiarly known then. But he gave us a list of those whom he could recall to memory: Rogers-McKnight general merchandise, Rankin hardware store, Jim and Webb Ditto dry goods, Jess McKinley hardware and groceries, J. I. Carter drug store, Mr. Page drug store, Ben Mathis postmaster, J. W. Hammack and A. W. Collins general merchandise, Lampe-Pittman blacksmith, Thos. Spruance, Sr. lumberman, Billy Sweet barber shop, Willis Bledsoe miller, where all the wheat and corn was ground that furnished the community with bread. The doctors were: Cravens, Britton, Davis and Hutchenson. One of them, Dr. W. H. Davis, is still here on the job. There were four churches at that time: The Presbyterian, The Methodist on the same plot as at this time, the Primitive Baptist with a two-story frame house on the lot where the Central Christian church now stands which was jointly owned with the Masons, the Missionary Baptist church on the lot where W. A. McDonald now lives. He also told of Uncle Dick Hart who was the only shoe-maker in town and he was some busy man, too. He made shoes for men, women and children, besides special orders for cow-boy boots.

"Professors Hammond and Glass were superintendents of the schools and they worked hard to get a school building," Mr. Sibley continued. "This was accomplished just before they retired. This building now stands on N. T. A. C. campus, and is used for a dormitory. This was the first start towards making N. T. A. C. possible, and just think how this college has grown! It does not seem like thirty years have passed but after a second thought I guess it must be." Rev. Sibley told of three saloons that were here when he came to Arlington and how the women could not come to town trading on Saturday afternoons on account of street brawls and fighting. Later when the saloons were voted out they were seven in operation and they did a good business too. "Now there is peace and quiet where once there was turmoil and strife. Why, this is the best town any man or woman ever lived in. Besides just think how fine and wonderful the people are here—they just don't make them any better."

Rev. Sibley is a strong Mason and he cannot talk very long without letting it be known, but he does it in a quiet, unassuming way. He says, "A good Mason is a good Christian." His life and influence in Arlington has meant much. He has always been for the upbuilding of the city, has seen it grow from 400 to about 4000 and has a right to feel that he has had a part in building Arlington during these 37 years. The first Masonic order in this part of the county was at Johnson Station. This lodge was organized in 1874 and moved to Arlington in 1885. Some of the members who belonged at Johnson Station are still living and active in Masonic work at this time. Rev. Sibley remembers very distinctly the first Interurban that went through our city in 1900 and the excitement it created.

Friday September 18 DEATH OF CURTIS McELREATH

After a lingering illness of several months, Curtis C. McElreath, 219 S. Pecan, passed to his reward Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. About eight months ago Mr. McElreath got a wound on the head while a peace officer and from that time his health was on the decline. In fact he has not been a well man since that time. About a year ago he went South for his health, but realizing he did not have long to live returned to his old home, where he has lived for about 26 years. He was in the livery stable business many years ago at the stand which is now occupied by Safeway Store. When automobiles took the place of buggies he ran a "Rent Car" service station until his health failed. He served Tarrant county as deputy sheriff and was city marshal of Arlington for several years.

MRS. WHITE RECEIVES MESSAGE OF THE DEATH OF NEPHEW

Mrs. Nora B. White of our city received the news last Sunday of the death of her young nephew Britain Webb Bishop, in a Los Angeles hospital. Young Mr. Bishop was enroute from his father's home in Portland, Oregon to Tucson, Arizona to enter the university of that state and would have received his law degree next June. He was educated partly in the schools of Portland, his former home, and had resided for a while in Fort Worth where he completed high school, attended Texas Christian University, later the law school of the University of Texas and two years ago entered the University of Arizona for his final law schooling. He was a Beta Theta Pi, and last year at Arizona was elected to membership in Phi Delta Phi, an honorary legal fraternity. About ten days ago he attended an international convention of this fraternity held at Lake of Boys, Canada, near Toronto, and was returning to Tucson, via Portland when he grew ill near Los Angeles and had to leave the train, passing away a few hours later.

Surviving him are his father, Paul L. Bishop, formerly a resident of Fort Worth, two brothers, Joseph A. Bishop, now a student of the University of Oregon at Eugene and Paul L. Bishop, Jr. of Portland, his grandmother, Mrs. B. R. Webb of Fort Worth, two aunts, Miss Minnie Sue Webb, of Ft. Worth, and Mrs. Nora B. White here; and two uncles Sanford C Webb of Fort Worth and Col. B. R. Webb of San Antonio. Mrs. W. J. Haynes of Arlington is a great aunt and Miss Willie Haynes a cousin.

Funeral services were held in Portland Wednesday, September 23 and his body placed beside his mother, the late Bessie Webb Bishop in the family crypt at the Portland Mausoleum.

(Abbreviated news item).

SET TRAP FOR BANDIT

A pistol and shotgun battle in which a Deputy Sheriff seriously wounded a hijacker took place Saturday night near White Rock Lake, as a result of a trap set by two Deputy Sheriffs to capture a man who had been operating that territory.

Two young women, relatives of one of the deputies, took part in staging the trap and were at the scene when the battle took place, in which many shots were fired.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

Hours after the battle, while the deputies were attempting to find the wounded bandit, police and later the Emergency Hospital, received mysterious calls, one of which resulted in the capture of the wounded man who proved to be Ed Burden, dope runner, bandit and ex-convict who later died of gun shot wounds.

Friday September 25 JOHN T. WHITE By Mrs. John C. Pruitt

We extend our deepest heartfelt sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rainey and family of this community and also to Mrs. G. E. Rainey and family of Riverside upon the death of their loved son, brother, husband and father, G. E. (Jack) Rainey who was instantly killed on last Tuesday at noon when the Pontiac coupe he was driving collided with a gravel truck driven by A. D. Parvin of Polytechnic, as he topped the hill about three miles east of Birdville while enroute to Birdville for lunch. Mr. Parvin died within a very few minutes and both vehicles were completely demolished as well as stripped of all casings and tubes. Since there were no eye witnesses to the accident it is judged that both men were speeding thus causing the terrible wreck. Both men were buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery after separate funeral services from their respective homes. Mr. Rainey was thirty-one years old and was employed by the Fort Worth Sand and Gravel company east of Hurst. He is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. Mae Sheffield and Miss Maria Rainey of this community and Mrs. Beatrice Williams of Riverside, his widow and five children, of Riverside also.

Friday September 25 Local Girl Dies From Poisoning
TRAGIC DEATH OF MISS SUBLETT

Wednesday afternoon Miss Bess Sublett, age 22, who lived at Sublett about six miles southwest of Arlington, died about 2:30 after taking strychnine a short time before. Miss Sublett had been in ill health for several months. In fact she had been advised to have an operation performed for appendicitis. This had, perhaps, caused her a great deal of anxiety. She visited some girl friends in that neighborhood before coming to Arlington Wednesday morning where she purchased the deadly poison. Soon after lunch she took it and in a short time was dead from the effects.

Miss Sublett was loved and appreciated by her neighbors and friends ever looking after the welfare of others when in need. Her passing has brought deep sorrow to the community and her presence will be missed. Survivors are her father, four sisters and three brothers.

Funeral services were conducted at Rehobeth cemetery near Sublett community Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. H. M. Redford pastor of the Christian Church of this city.

Friday October 2 Down Memory Lane In The Business District of Arlington Back In 1897

Twenty-two years after the removal of Hayter, a station located one mile east of here, named after a pioneer minister, Rev. Hayter, to the present site of our wonderful little city, and thereafter called "Arlington," the old Citizens bank occupied a building where the J. H. Purvis grocery is now located. Bob Bryant owned and operated a livery stable fronting on Main St., not far from the Citizens Bank building, which was later moved to South Center Street on the lot where the Safeway Store is now located. The livery stable was destroyed by fire about a year after it was established at its new location.

At this time, which was during early part of the year 1897, Ben Mathis was postmaster and the postoffice was located in a wooden structure on the lot now occupied by the Waffle House on the west side of South Center Street. On July 1, 1897, J. I. Carter succeeded Mr. Mathis as postmaster, which position he held continuously until July 1, 1913, he being succeeded by P. B. McNatt, who served in that capacity until March 1, 1922. On that date, after nearly nine years McNatt was succeeded by Mr. Carter, who has since successfully engineered the government's mail service in Arlington and vicinity, which place he still holds to the satisfaction of the general public. While the postoffice was located on the southside of Main street the iron safe was blown open by burglars, but the amount of the damage or loss has never been publicly recorded, however it is understood that it occurred during Mr. Mathis tenure of office.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

Henry Lampe operated a blacksmith shop on the lot now occupied by the Lampe building on the west side of South Center Street. He gained the distinction of running his shop forty-two years without taking a single day of vacation.

The first Interurban Station was established in a wooden shack on the corner of South Center and Abrams Street where Charles Brower has his cleaning and pressing shop. Ex-postmaster Ben Mathis was the first local agent of the traction company. The station was later moved to the corner of the old Bowen Lumber company. It was at this location a young lady from Dallas committed suicide after alighting from an Interurban car and walked into the station. She shot herself and only lived a few moments after incident.

There was a frame building in those days on the corner where the First State bank now stands in which John M. Moore and W. A. Thornton conducted a grocery store. Mike Ditto sold groceries in a frame building on the corner where Webb Bros. Drug store stands. From this corner east to Rankin's hardware was covered with small wooden shacks, the entire string of them was destroyed by fire one night, following this disaster Dr. Hutchenson cleared off the premises and erected the Hutchenson building which is now being used as a hotel. An old two-story hotel, a wooden structure, was at that time being operated on the lot where the Texas Theatre now stands. Across the street where R. W. McKnight grocery now stands old Capt. Record operated a livery stable.

In those days, about thirty-four years ago, O. L. Hutcheson & Son operated a general store on the Coulter Drug Store corner, and at that time, the business activities of the town of Arlington consisted of the concerns mentioned in the foregoing.

In the earlier days when Arlington was being established James Ditto long since deceased, was the first postmaster and the postoffice was operated in his store.

Ditto & Son, Webb Rose and J. P. Rose were amongst the first pioneer settlers to venture into the retail business in Arlington.

HERMAN BRONSON DIES WITH RABIES

Dr. E. E. Hancock was called to Grapevine last Monday to see Herman Bronson who had rabies. Dr. Hancock says this death should be a warning to any family who has a dog, and more especially when it bites one of the children. Only ten days ago Herman was playing with the dog which bit him. The family did not think anything about the dog bite, not one time suspecting it had rabies as it did not show any symptoms at that time. The boy took sick with convulsions after which different physicians were called in to diagnose the case and only a few hours had passed before a decision was made, the doctors pronouncing it rabies. Herman only lived 48 hours and died a most horrible death. Doctor Hancock says any one witnessing a death caused from rabies will never care to witness another.

DEATH OF CHARLOTTE NALL

Friday morning sad news of the passing of Charlotte Nall, 9 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Nall who now reside in Waxahachie but who formerly lived in Arlington was received here. Little Charlotte was a granddaughter of Mrs. E. H. Murphy and niece of Miss Mamie

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

Mulrphy. Her young life was cut short by an incurable disease which was treated by renown specialists yet all that medical science could do did not save her life. Little Charlotte often visited her grandmother and aunt and was the sunshine of their lives. She was always cheerful, ever ready and anxious to come to Arlington where she and her little friend, Rose Mary Fulkerson, spent hours at the time at play. She was taken to a McKinney hospital several weeks ago for special treatment and there was hopes of her recovery until a few days before she died. On Thursday evening before she died the following morning she had been accustomed to hearing Amos and Andy over the radio but fell asleep before time for the program. About three the next morning she mentioned the fact that she missed hearing them and asked her mother to tell her about the program of the evening before. She died a few hours later. She visited in Arlington from time to time even from babyhood on until a few months ago when sunshine was brought into the lives of the family and those with whom she associated. It is something loved ones cannot understand when loved ones are taken away, but we cannot doubt God's wisdom in choosing the fairest and best and doing what is best for his children. Our loss is heaven's gain.

Little Charlotte was buried at Waxahachie Saturday afternoon and those who went from here say they never saw such beautiful floral offerings. Those who attended the funeral were: her grandmother, Mrs. E. H. Murphy, and aunt Miss Mami Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Fulkerson, and daughter, Rose Mary. Mesdames Home Slaughter, Allen Barnes, Jim Ditto, H. M. Thornton, D. H. Conner, W. C. Weeks, J. D. Faulkner. Friday October 23 SON SELLS FATHER ON TRAVELING BY AIR Enjoying the memory of his first airplane trip, J. W. McAlister of Arlington is relating his experiences following a flight with his son W. B. McAlister, pilot for American Airways, from Dallas to Brownsville.

Seven years ago Mr. McAlister met his son's first ship in a pasture and took a double-bitted ax with which he intended to carve his opinion of aviation on the ship. The plane was saved by the son promptly taking off in it. Years passed and with the accumulation of hours in the air by his son there came to the senior McAlister a growing desire to travel by air "just once."

Following the trip to Brownsville in the new nine passenger Pilgrim ship which American Airways has on that line, young McAlister climbed from the cockpit and looking through the windows at his father making ready to leave his seat and remarked to airport attaches, "Pop's sold."

Local Resident Saw Jeff Davis Inaugurated President

Too often shut-ins are neglected more especially by those busy with their daily tasks not knowing the pleasure in store for them should they visit more regularly and get an inspiration not to be had from any other source. It was the writer's pleasure to call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Harbison 1201 E. Abrams, a few days ago because the presence of Mr. Harbison who has come and gone to Arlington almost daily all these years has ceased. There is an interurban stop in front of his home so he has always taken advantage of it to come to town each day. His many friends know his health is on the decline at this time which causes him to stay at home.

On entering the Harbison home we were cordially greeted by Mrs. Harbison who has practically been an invalid for two years, having fallen and sprained her hip and knee so badly she has not been able to walk a step since. She spends most of the time in bed or in a rolling chair. Mrs. Harbison was celebrating her 85 birthday, Sept. 16 and was receiving congratulations and gifts from her children and loved ones as she lay in bed all smiles. "Mr. Harbison and I celebrated our 59th wedding anniversary Sept. 26, and are planning for a great day on our diamond anniversary next Sept," she said. "At that time we will have lived together 60 years." Her eyes sparkled with pleasure as she told of the happy days gone by and of their wedding at Brenham in 1872, coming to Dallas to spend the night on their honeymoon, then going to their new home at McKinney, traveling on the only railroad in Texas at that time, it being the H. & T. C. Mr. Harbison was the contractor for crossties used in building the railroad from McKinney to Dallas. About one year from that time the first train ran over that road on which Mr. and Mrs. Harbison were passengers. They say people from hundreds of miles came and camped days and even weeks ahead of the time just to see the train when it made it's initial run. He then contracted with the Southern & Pacific for crossties for the railroad from San Antonio to El Paso. Mr. Harbison is proud of the honor of helping establish two railroads which have grown from hundreds of miles to thousands of miles at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harbison were reared in Alabama. Mr. Harbison enlisted in the Civil War at the age of 18 and was in ranks for four years, coming out at the end without a scratch. With sad eyes he said: "I saw hundreds fall by my side during those four years and I cannot understand why I was so fortunate but God has always been so very, very, good to me, so I've tried all these years to be true to Him because of his goodness to me through life." Only a few months back he attended the Methodist church as regularly as those many years younger. In speaking of this he said: "I like to go to church to get spiritual food for the coming week."

Mr. Harison was in General Forest's regiment and knew Grant, Bragg and other great warriors. He vividly relates how they fought, the hardships endured and the accumulated debt of war; how he came back home to plant a crop thinking cotton would bring 20 cts. per pound but when it was sold only received 4 cts. a pound. "Never would I raise four cent cotton to pay a war debt," he said, with indignation on his face at the injustice of it after he had given his country the best four years of his life fighting. Mr. Harbison claims to be the only man living who saw Jeff Davis inaugurated president of the Confederacy. The markings where he stood on the steps of the capitol at Montgomery, Ala., are still there. He was one of ten men of the South who were chosen as representatives of the Klu Klux Klan.

Mr. Harbison was 86 years of age Jan. 29 and Mrs. Harbison was 85 the 16th of Sept. and a more devote couple can not be found than they. Their noble, Christian lives have meant so much in the communities in which they have lived. They lived in Mineral Wells 17 years being in the express business while there. They came to Arlington 10 years ago and up until this past year Mr. Harbison has planted and gathered his crops each year. Even last year he supervised truck farming and in fact did some of the work. He says he and his wife are now living on borrowed time as they are past four score years and five. They are cheerful, happy and looking forward to next year's jubilee when their diamond anniversary will be celebrated. They have 5 children, 2 boys, Milton Harbison who lives at Pampa, and Frank Harbison who lives at Wichita Falls; three daughters, Mrs. Bob Covington at Dallas, Mrs. Harry Parris and Miss Bettie Harbison of this city. And before we cease writing of this remarkable couple may we add that Miss Harbison has taught school here for many years, having had the pleasure of starting many fine young people here off on the right foot, for she teaches in the primary department and the fruits of some of her work may be seen in the lives of some of the most prominent men and women in Arlington.

DEATH OF JOHN ORR

After several week's illness John Orr, who has been at the Home for Aged Masons for several years, died Sunday morning about 5 o'clock. Members of this lodge accompanied his body to Big Springs where interment took place.

Friday October 30

"AUNT NANCY" 96 YEARS OLD

An old saying is that if you want to be happy just do something for some one less fortunate than yourself. If you want to bring joy to old folks who are physically unable to mix and mingle with the world just go to the Home for Aged Masons where many who have passed the four score and ten mark may be found who are really happy because of the home-like environments. There are times when every one craves companionship and more especially those who are not able to pass away the time at some pleasant occupation on account of failing eyesight. At this home everyone greets visitors most cordially and enjoy company going to their rooms for a quiet, heart to heart talk.

Only a few days ago we made a visit to the room of Mrs. Nancy Jane Sanders, who was 96 years of age last April 19th. "Aunt Nancy," as she is familiarly known, is a favorite among members of the Home. She was admitted to the Home about 8 years ago and says she is as happy as any woman could be for there is plenty to eat and wear besides a nice room to call home. She whiles away the time by reading mostly the Bible and church paper. "I make all my clothes by hand," she said, "do my darning and patching and have to take a rest daily for I want to live to be an old woman."

Mrs. Sanders was born in Anson county, North Carolina, being one of a family of nine children. Just before the war her mother died, leaving her to help rear the other children as she was the oldest girl. The second year of the war her father died, so the entire responsibility fell on her and the oldest brothers to provide for the family. About that time the boys who were old enough went to war leaving the family wholly on her young shoulders which undertaking she assumed with as much courage as the boys who left feeling it their duty to fight for their country. They had faith in their sister's ability to take care of the younger girls and provide the necessaries of life while they were doing their part in the war. In speaking of this Mrs. Sanders said: "We got along all right for we raised what we had to eat and a spinning factory was near by. However, we spun and wove the material for every garment worn. The war cast a shadow over our lives but otherwise we fared as well as could be expected. We were happier than people are now for they have so much they don't know what to do with it, and besides they live so fast they meet themselves coming back."

One of the most interesting times of her life was when her parents, brothers and sisters moved to Tennessee from North Carolina. They came through in a covered wagon and it was so heavily loaded the older children walked and let the younger ones ride. They were four weeks making the trip and Aunt Nancy was sure she didn't ride one week during the four. "We didn't have coffee those days," she said, "we made our coffee out of wheat. Some used little squares of beets but of course that didn't effect me any for I didn't drink it. We had good, substantial food that stuck to our ribs, and that's why we were healthy." After arriving in Tennessee she fell in love with J. W. Johnson and soon they were married. To this union was born four children, all being dead at this time except one son who lives in Oklahoma. After Mr. Johnson's death her brother who lived at Groesbeck sent for her and children where they lived for many years. Then J. M. Sanders took a liking to Mrs. Johnson and they were happily married. Both were actively engaged in church and civic work, during which time she taught a Sunday school class for many years. In fact she grew up a worker in the church and can boast of being a member of the Methodist church for a longer period than most any other Methodist in this part of Texas. She joined at the age of 16 being a member over 80 years. She looks young for her age and seems happy. The expression on her face shows a consecrated spiritual life that has meant something to those with whom she has come in contact. She attributes the longevity of her life to right living, right thinking and hesitatingly said: "I never attended night parties, nor dissipated in any way. I believe God's mercy and tender care has made it possible for me to live past the 96 mark. I would like to live to be 100 if I could do so without being helpless for I want to go when I get that way." A keen interest in life and careful living will probably enable her to be with us for a long time, and the comforts afforded by the Home are conducive to happiness during these last years of her life.

Friday October 30 DEATH OF WEBB DITTO 81 YEARS OF AGE

Thursday morning at 5:15 a pioneer Arlington citizen, Web Ditto age 80, died after about 30 minutes of illness with heart trouble. The day before he died he walked three blocks each way to town twice and made his usual morning visit in offices of different friends seeming to be unusually cheerful and feeling alright, but death is no respecter of persons. He realized his usefulness was hindered on account of old age, yet was a devoted father and lived for his children who were so very kind and considerate of his welfare. Living in the home with him was a daughter, Mrs. Joe Bailey and husband together with another daughter, Miss Tera Ditto, whose delight was in serving their father and making his last days happiest.

Web Ditto came to Arlington in the year 1869 moving here from Guntersville, Ala. He was so impressed with Texas and more especially Arlington that he wrote for his father, James Ditto, two sisters, Mrs. Rose deceased, mother of Web and Charlie Rose, Mrs. W. A. Thomas who now lives in Ft. Worth and a brother, John Ditto who is also dead, being the first person to be buried in Arlington cemetery about 50 years ago. On their arrival the father and son decided to go into the mercantile business which was established about one mile east of Arlington and later when the railroad came through they moved their store near the spot where C. L. Knapp's barber shop is now located. James Ditto was later appointed Arlington's first postmaster, having the postoffice in the same building with his mercantile business. Mr. Ditto was Tax assessor for many years. He also was overseer when the streets of Arlington were laid out. He took special pride in helping do his duty toward the dead. For many years he owned the tools and helped prepare most every grave. In those days friends helped prepare the resting place for their dead without compensation and Mr. Ditto was ever ready to do his part.

Web Ditto and Miss Lizzie Pummill were married Dec. 18, 1882. Mrs. Ditto preceding him in death Feb. 3, 1902. To this union were born four children who still survive him: Miss Tera Ditto, Mrs. Joe Bailey, Jim and Frank Ditto, all living with, and near him, except Frank who is living at Ft. Stockton but who was here visiting when his father passed on. Other survivors are his sister, Mrs. W. A. Thomas, of Fort Worth and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held today at the Ditto home at 10 a. m. Rev. H. M. Redford and S. M. Bennett, will officiate. Interment at the Arlington Cemetery. Pallbearers: Ed Sewell, Allen Barnes, Earl Wade, M. C. Dalby, Jack Elliott and Thos. Spruance.

Friday October 30 MAN AND POLO PONIES KILLED IN WRECK

Wednesday night about 11 o'clock R. B. A transfusion of blood was ordered by the doctors Duny Lowery furnishing the blood. The driver of the Wharton truck was not hurt but two of the horses were killed and others injured from the jar. Mr. Peterman was taken to the hospital in a critical condition, both limbs being broken and his hip almost severed from the body. Wednesday morning word reached here that he died from these injuries.

Mr. Devall was for 18 years a partner of the late Robert L. Rountree husband of Mrs. Eva Rountree. We found after pleasant association with Mr. Devall a fine Christian character and ever ready to help humanity. His son, Charles, will pick up his mantle and continue to publish the Optic Herald.

Friday November 6 DEATH OF W. H. (BILL) DAVIS, 63

W. H. Davis, familiarly known as Bill, died at his residence south of the city Friday morning after several days illness, caused from a carbuncle on his neck. Mr. Davis was a pioneer citizen of Tarrant county having lived here for 50 years. His wife preceded him in death about 34 years ago. Up until two years ago he and his mother lived together south of the city but after her death he moved north of Arlington where he spent the remainder of his days. His kindness and tenderness toward his mother was a manifestation of his appreciation of her and after her passing the vacancy cast a gloom over his life.

Friday November 6

U. S. WILL BE DRAWN IN (TO WAR) FAMOUS EX-SOLDIER BELIEVES

Sergt. Alvin G. York, outstanding hero of the World War, firmly believes that Europe is heading for another war and that the United States again will be drawn into the conflict.

Sergeant York lectured Friday on "The Story of My Life" before students of the North Texas Agricultural College. His receipts will be used by him for his agricultural school at Jamestown, in the mountains of Tennessee, in the section where he was reared.

"Europe is bound to come to another war," said Sergeant York when questioned on his views of prospects for peace. "America is setting right in with them in their councils and will be drawn into it. I don't like the idea of this country being drawn into the arguments overseas. We have enough to do at home and would be better off if we attended to our own affairs."

When the United States entered the World War Sergeant York was classed as a conscientious objector on account of his religion, but he later entered the army and was overseas by the late spring of 1918. His exploit of capturing 35 enemy machine guns and 132 Boche prisoners was unequaled in the World War and scarcely paralleled in the annals of armed conflicts of all time. He might properly be picked as the all-time hero of wars.

"I do not favor military training as a preparation for war, but it is good for the boys as a matter of discipline and physical training," Sergeant York explained. "I do not have military training in my school but the students are too busy with other things for us to use up their time that way."

Spurning luring offers of stage engagements and other methods of making money by capitalizing on his World War experience, Sergeant York turned his attention to helping the youths of his home section in the Tennessee Mountains. He raised sufficient money to get the school started, which he calls the Alvin C. York Agricultural Institute. He made lecture tours, taking up collections for the school's benefit. Those who have heard him declare he is the most sincere and earnest person they ever have encountered. His address covers modestly his famed exploit in the war but he also tells of his early life and the struggles of his neighbors to obtain a livelihood and some education.

The World War hero traveled by train from Oklahoma City to Dallas and then to Arlington.

Friday November 27 In Loving Memory of Evans Johnson

There is an old saying "out of sight, out of life" but this does not apply to the local chief of police and his department. Among those who have worked side by side for months and then into th years there is a kindred feeling that is not forgotten so soon when one of their number departs this life. It was just one year ago Monday morning at 5:30 that Evans Johnson was killed by a negro while discharging his duty as a peace officer. Mr. Johnson was loved and appreciated by his co-workers and his memory still lingers with them. At 5:30 Monday morning the chief of police, L. B. Lovell, and his co-workers, Ed Collins, Joe Coke, Mike Thompson, Lawrence Evans, Charles Johnston and Earl Beard drove over to the cemetery and placed a wreath on Evan's grave. After one shot from a gun Howard Taylor blew taps. The chief made some fitting remarks as to why they had gathered for this solemn occasion and he placed a motto in a glass frame on the grave which read: "We miss your smiling face old pal, but thank God for the sweet memories, they will live on and on and on. Your pals." Those present were pallbearers at the Johnson funeral with the exception of Earl Beard.

IN MEMORIUM

By Mrs. Ed Tharp

Passed away November 21st, 1931, at his home in Arlington J. B. Tharp, aged 86 years, 11 months 10 days.

He had been gradually sinking for more than a year—and declined rapidly for the last few months of his life—finally succumbing to pneumonia. He passed away quietly and peacefully, as he slept at 7 a. m. Saturday, Nov. 21.

It is a great consolation to those who loved him to know that he was waiting, only waiting for the summons over There. While he loved so much to live, he realized that his life was nearing end—and was prepared to meet death calmly and with the fortitude of a Christian.

Mr. Tharp was born in South Carolina. He moved with his parents to Mississippi, at 5 years of age. To Texas in 1893. Left in early manhood with three small boys (his wife having died in 1876) he took up his burden of rearing these children, becoming not only father, but as near a mother, as it was possible. Teaching them to walk in the straight and narrow path. "Man's great actions are performed in minor struggles. There are noble triumphs which no life sees, no renown rewards, no flourish of trumpets salutes."

His three sons all attest the fact that not one unclean or profane word ever passed his lips during all the years they were so closely associated with him. One felt the venerableness of his character when in his presence. To me he always seemed to radiate kindness. It was distinctly a pleasure for him to give and to make happy those he loved. He was a man with a meek and quiet mien, he loved simplicity and adhered to honor above all else.

"Though my lot might lowly seem to some
To me it is not so. I stand a king.
With only God for master. Worldly gifts
I do despise, to Heavenly ones I cling."

For many years he had been deprived of his hearing (caused by exposure and measles, while serving his country in the Civil War). This caused him, being much alone, to be reticent and reminiscent, living much in the past. His memory was remarkable for one of his age—and it was interesting to hear him narrate upon the past. I feel that words are inadequate when speaking of one, whose character was so exemplary.

THE ARLINGTON JOURNAL, Arlington, Texas. 1931

To his loved ones—our life-path is not straight, nor does it lie in gently varifying curves. God marks his way for us with angels. We live to move in new-appointed ways. It is not ours to sleep as yet but we are changed because a loved one sleeps. One day we two shall sleep. Shall others then be changed, and move in their new-appointed ways? Love makes life life.

Mr. Tharp was a Presbyterian in faith. The Rev. Mr. Bennett conducted the funeral services Nov. 21, at 2 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington. It was full of comfort to the bereaved. A crowd of sympathizing friends followed him to the cemetery where this kind father, grandfather, great-grandfather and loving friend was laid to rest under a bank of beautiful flowers to await the coming of his Lord.

"It seemeth such a little way to me
Across to that strange country, the Beyond;
And yet not strange—for it has grown to be,
The home of those of whom I am so fond;
They make it seem familiar and most dear,
As journeying friends bring distant countries near.

So close it lies, that when my sight is clear,
I think I see the gleaming strand;
I know I feel that those who've gone from here
Come near enough to touch my hand.
I often think, but for our veiled eyes,
We should find heaven right 'round about us lies.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread,
When from this dear earth I shall journey out
To that still dearer country of the Dead,
And join the lost ones so long dreamed about,
I love this world, yet shall I love to go
And meet the friends who wait for me I know.

I never stand about a bier and see
The seal of death set on some well-loved face,
But that I think; "One more to welcome me
When I shall cross the intervening space
Between this land and that one over there—
One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair."

And so for me there is no sting to death
And so the grave has lost its victory;
It is but crossing with abated breath,
And white, set face, a little strip of sea
To find the loved ones waiting on the shore,
More beautiful, more precious than before.

Friday December 4 Leaves Family Circle For Poison In Bathroom

As the family group sat around the living room in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Melear last Saturday afternoon listening to a radio program, George Melear aged 45, who was a guest in the home, excused himself, went into the bathroom and took poison. He returned in a few minutes and announced that he had just taken poison. He died before a physician arrived. Judge M. C. Dalby returned a verdict of suicide, after finding a bottle of poison with two-thirds of the liquid gone.

Melear had recently been making his home with his brother but being without work had been despondent for some time and this rash act came at a time when a fit of despondency overcame him.

Mr. Melear was reared at Johnson Station, was a fine young man and had a good position until last year when he was one among many who lost their jobs. His wife was working in Greenville and staying with her mother. ??? his last remarks was to call for his wife but was dead before she answered.

Friday December 4 PANKEY'S POEM

'Tis often that I've heard it said, that poverty's no disgrace,
Perhaps you've never felt it, or met it face to face,
But this I want to tell you, and I think with me you'll (fr)own,
It's mighty inconvenient, since poverty hit our town.

But stop and wait a minute, let's figure this thing out.
For we ourselves may be to blame, of this I have no doubt.
It has taken us a long, long time to see just where we stand,
Yet we are none the wiser, while hard-times are still on hand.

Some say there's too much cotton, while others say it's gin,
The cause of all our trouble and the fix that we are in.
With these I have no patience, their talk is all hot air.
And will not help the cause at all, or get you anywhere.
Now, friends if you will listen to what I have to say,
I have a proposition, one that I'll guarantee.
Let's change our constitution, and change our system, too.
And do unto our neighbors, as you'd have them do to you.

Let's take ten commandments, and add the golden rule,
For this is all the law we need, and should be taught in school.
Then do whatever comes to hand, and try to do it well,
And leave the rest to conscience, is all I have to tell.

Friday December 4 DEATH OF D. T. HALL By Eva Rountree

D. T. Hall age 65, retired farmer, and business man of Pecan Gap, who is known among a large circle of friends in Arlington, passed to his reward at Mineral Wells Saturday morning at 11:10 after about four week's illness, although in deteriorating health for several months.

Mr. Hall visited friends here as he passed through going to Mineral Wells for his health about two weeks ago, but no one thought of the seriousness of his trouble until the death angel summoned him to appear before the Supreme Judge as he was making ready to leave for his home at Pecan Gap Saturday morning. His two sons, Warner and Roy, had come to take him home and after he was seated in the ambulance his spirit took it's flight where the journey ended in another world. He did not live to make the trip to his earthly home, but the trip he has made is an everlasting one, where he is now basking in the heavenly home for which he has been preparing for many years. He joined the Presbyterian church under the pastorate of Rev. S. M. Bennett of this city over 20 years ago, when Rev. Bennett was in charge of the church at Pecan Gap and since has lived a consistent Christian life.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church at Pecan Gap Monday afternoon where a large concourse of friends with their many beautiful floral offerings came to pay last respects to one of the most prominent men of that community. Interment took place at Honey Grove. Survivors are two sons and three daughters, four brothers and one sister, besides numerous other relatives and friends.

We'll not forget him, we who stay
To work a little longer here,
His name, his faith, his love shall live,
On memory's tablet, bright and clear.

DR. BINNEY DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Binney and family were called to the bedside of Mr. Binney's father, Dr. Chas. Binney, at Strawn Tuesday. Dr. Binney died Monday. He is well known in Arlington having been associated with Binney - Dicklow Chevrolet company from the time of its organization in 1925. Dr. Binney was vice president of this company at the time of his death, and also owns the building which the Binney-Dicklow, Inc., now occupies. He has visited Arlington quite often and made many staunch friends during those visits. Dr. Binney was born in Macaupin County Illinois, on the 20th of Dec., 1862, and is a son of Walter P. and Christina (Webster) Binney, the former was born in England and the latter was born in Scotland and who was skilled as a general mechanic.

Dr. Binney is a lineal descendant of the great English evangelist, Rev. Thomas A. Binney, and also of Horace Binney, who came from his native England to the United States and became a resident of Philadelphia, Penn.

Upon removal to Strawn, Palo Pinto county, he engaged in agricultural and livestock enterprises, which occupied the major part of his time and attention, though the insistent importunities of families to whom he ministered as a skilled physician and surgeon made it almost impossible for him to retire completely from practice. He was a progressive exponent of ranch and farm enterprise in Stephenson County where he was the owner of a large and well improved stock farm, which is also center of oil production with producing wells. During the World War period Dr. Binney was a member of the Medical Reserve Corps of the United States Army besides being a leader in patriotic activities in his home community. He was active in church work and community service undertakings. He was especially proud of his children, Robert F. who is president of the Binney-Dicklow Inc. of this city, Mrs. Lewis Link whose husband is lease man for the Texas-Pacific Coal and Oil company, and resides at Thurbar, Thomas A. who is associated in the work and management of Doctor Binney's fine stock ranch, and three grandchildren.

Friday December 18 W. M. Tyra Dies From Burns

W. M. Tyra, 25, N. Center Street, died at a Ft. Worth hospital Sunday morning at 4 a. m. after being found with his clothing afire near a burning house on S. Pecan street Saturday evening about 7 o'clock. A mysterious blaze in the house was rapidly burning when Tyra was seen running out of the north door with his clothes ablaze. He walked up the street afire as M. C. M????rin and George Kilpatrick who were passing by and Bob Finch who also saw the man when he ran from the burning building, went to Tyra's assistance but his clothes had burned almost completely from his body. He was burned so badly the flesh hung from his hands and his ears are said to have been burned to a crisp. After the fire was extinguished they called a Moore ambulance, and rushed him to a hospital but he soon succumbed to the excruciating pain which ended in death.

The house what was found ablaze was unoccupied and it is reported that Mr. Tyra stopped by the house to find a rest room and when a match was struck to find his way, there was an awful explosion. After investigation by officers Saturday night and Sunday a can of gasoline was found in the garage and some of it was still damp on the ground, where it had been poured out. This seemingly was a mysterious blaze but, Chief of Police L. B. Lowell, Fire Chief Ed Collins, and other officers are working to find the cause of the fire, this being twice in less than two weeks for the same house to be afire.

Funeral services were held at the Moore Funeral Home Sunday evening at 5 o'clock. Rev. W. T. Rouse officiating. Burial in Arlington cemetery. Survivors are his wife and two children besides his father and mother, Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Tyra of Lancaster, the former a retired Baptist minister.

Thursday December 24 DECEASED MASON'S PICTURE LOCATED
AFTER LONG HUNT

A few days ago Tom M. Bartley, one of the outstanding Masons of Texas, was a visitor in the city, being a guest of superintendent W. J. Brown at the Home for Aged Masons while here.

Mr. Bartley came on a quest that culminated here and was the realization of one of the greatest desires of his career in Masonry. He has traveled hundreds of miles and spent several hundred dollars trying to get information he obtained after arriving in Arlington. He was trying to find a picture of B. B. Cannon I, who died Sept. 2, 1859 at Rusk. About the time of Mr. Cannon's death he held the highest office Texas masonry could give, that of grand master of the grand council of Royal and select masters of Texas. In some way his record was lost track of and Mr. Bartley has visited many cities and even smaller towns trying to find the

B. B. Cannon family. While in East Texas he was told about the Cannon family here and when he realized he had found some one who knew B. B. Cannon the I, and possibly would have a picture of him, Mr. Bartley immediately wired his wife at Waco to tell her the long, long hunt had been concluded.

Mr. Bartley is grand secretary of the grand council, also grand secretary of the grand Royal Arch chapter with headquarters at Waco. He will have a large picture made of B. B. Cannon I, and it will be hung in the Grand Lodge building at Waco. Mr. Cannon was one of the pioneer Masons of Texas and was well known for his work in Masonery, as well as the life he lived and the influence left as an inheritance. Mrs. B. B. Cannon, who is now in her 80s, is the second B. B. Cannon's widow, there having been three B. B. Cannons, and she is now living on W. Abrams. The picture Mr. Barley so much wanted was secured from her. B. B. Cannon the 1st is the great grandfather of A. R., E. K. and E. L. Cannon of this city. Mr. Bartley had the privilege also of helping to initiate J. I. Carter as a Royal Arch Mason not long since. About 35 years ago Mr. Carter helped to initiate Mr. Bartley into the Masonic Lodge. This was quite a coincident but very happy occasion for both of these fine men.
